

In the face of the enemy.

Intro

This book, serves to expose and teach the uneducated in the body of Christ to the wiles of the enemy. The whole premise here-of is not to scare the new believer in Christ, but give confidence in the Lord's word. And give information as to how the enemy works. What are his weapons, what are his attitudes, what are his stratagems, and lastly. What will be the end of them if you act appropriately.

It is not by any means ignored in scripture, that Satan is real. He is as real as the chair you sit on. And it is my firm standing, that he is as deadly today as he was in the beginning. He is just as vicious, just as dangerous and just evil as he was when he deceived Eve. He has by no means changed his ways. It is this reason, that we today in the body of Christ have to stand firmer than ever. Because his time is short, as it is written. And he is at work like never before. Because the time for his deception, and ruler-ship on earth is almost at an end. God has set a fixed time for his destruction. And Satan has no idea when it will happen. All he knows, is that it is soon! This is why, every last bit of his kingdom, is at work to harm, kill, and destroy the Gospel. It is impossible for him to remove those who are in the hand of the Lord from His love and protection. He cannot change what Christ has done internally in you, and he cannot by any means take you out of God's sovereign hand. But he will, without exception, do whatever he can to harm and ruin the lives of any believer irrespective of their spiritual maturity if given the chance.

And my modest little book, which is comprised from personal experiences relating to demonic attack and activity as well as from cases dealt by this author, when addressing other professing believers. It is by no means, a small part of what can happen. But, in truth a broad witness of how the enemy operates and how to best deal with him in these said cases. Every instance mentioned, will have a full description of what took place, and what should have been done in hindsight. Thus, allowing you, the reader the full opportunity to learn from the experiences of others. And hopefully, equipping you to minister to others and apply for your own welfare and theirs.

My cases mentioned, are all with first hand accounts, and always with the author present and involved with the dealings. I will for the sake of confidentiality keep real names of persons hidden. All these events took place in South Africa.

Chapter 1 :Our sin nature present with us when born

First section

Every person who has been born on this earth, since the time of Adam and Eve have had the sin nature within them. Since this is carried over by the dad from Adam. And is the reason why Jesus was born without sin. Because God almighty made a seed within Mary that made her pregnant. Meaning, a pure sinless seed was used. But, every other person had sin in them and were born into sin. This, caused us to hate God and go astray from the womb. From the very second you took your first breath you were an enemy of God and was His foe. You were from that moment set to do wickedness. Simply because you were a slave to sin. And this would continue until you got born again. When you changed the shackles of sin for shackles of righteousness. We are slaves to sin no longer from that point on, but we became slaves to righteousness. And from that point in time do you begin to see the sins you have done and will ever do according to the perception of the Gospel.

This all might sound very depressing. But it holds a fundamental key into what the following chapters will deal with. The Gospel teaches us that we, when we were aliens from the Gospel of Christ and of God were under the manipulation and influence of Satan. Dragging us about to every evil work. And most often we did them willingly. Almost every sin we did when we were out of Christ we had enjoyed. I can not remember any sins I committed before my reconciliation with Christ that I did abhor. Not one.

My sins, were wicked and vile in their nature. They were there because of Adam's transgression, resulting in the sin nature in me and causing Satan to have influence with me to drag me into those evils. But, these sins had with them one aspect I was oblivious to. And it is something that most people in this world never realize before judgment day. That they had demons take residence in them and with them when they engaged the works on the enemy. Satan has assigned demons to every single project of sin. They have no limitations as to what to work on. They are geared, organized and completely designed their fiery darts to create their will and their ways in you. There is no law stopping them from endorsing "x" sin. And once they have you, they will romanticize that sin. And justify in your mind that should you become at any point acquainted with the Gospel, you will be harder to convert. That you will be resisting the instruction of God if you do become born again. And in many cases, they will manifest if God so allows (they want to try and stop you from being set free from their influence). But God, who is faithful will deliver you out of the snare of the enemy. And when He has set you free from that foe, you will declare from your heart "My God has set me free!" For whom the Son sets free, is free indeed.

I have no illusions as to how difficult this can be to accept. Since you may say, "I am a saved regenerate! I would have known!" And you may also reply with contrary, "But why would God allow them after I have been redeemed to stay in me?". To the first response I will beg your answer on this. How do you come to your strong conclusion? What is your evidence? What gives you this assurance? And this a fair question, since I can thoroughly say 90% of the evil that left me left after the new birth. But now I will press on you a series of questions. Whereby, if your answer be "Yes" to any of these conditions. You must seek God in prayer and fasting to confirm the truth in you and deliver you if need be.

1. Are you often finding yourself struggling to resist temptation. As if you have no control over your actions? Yet, once the deed is done you have full control. Almost as if auto-pilot was switched on for a moment?
2. Are you plagued with thoughts of violence, sexual immorality, blasphemy, murder etc. And by this I mean not a short burst these sins on an irregular basis. But almost daily, frequently. Quietly in your mind you engage with these while in conversation with others. Your thoughts playing out all manner of evil that dreads you in your mind.
3. Do you often find yourself as if resisting not just your own flesh against sin, but as if that flesh is aided by an intelligence?
4. Do you tend to respond to thoughts and teachings of God and His word with hostility? Sudden mood changes that occur only when the word of God and His kingdom is made the subject of your fellowship with others?

If your answer be yes to any of these. You may either have a demonic enemy assigned to you who has gained access to you or may have one in you. Case and point. Should you take this warning lightly and say: "But I know God. And He knows me. I go to church and and and" I caution you. Do not place confidence in yourself but place it in God who is patient, kind and merciful to deliver you and confirm the truth. One of the biggest mistakes we make, is to judge things as we feel or think they are. Instead of going to the Word of God and Himself for peace relating to this.

If you are answering the opposite, "Why would He allow it?" and see these evidences above mentioned in you, your answer is this. Sin repetitive/heavy/certain types of sin gives demons legal right. That sin, whatever it may be, is a legal claim by the enemy to have possession of spiritual ground in you. Until those sins are repented of you will not be delivered. Now you may, say "But I have repented!" Then congratulations. You have been forgiven and their legal right to be in you or influencing you is removed. But they are not going to leave unforced. They are squatters in the foremost rank. Until you give them order to leave, they never will. They may leave if you listen to worship music and spend time with God. But these one's that leave are small and weak compared with others that are more authoritative in rank or have been prevalent in your life. (The longer a demons stays, the more active it will be and the more rooted it will become). However, God, in His great mercy towards you may remove many evils without you knowing because you are not yet capable of fighting them. Yet, there will come a time when God says : "Take back that ground! I am with you!" Since He wants you to experience the victory and the joy of seeing yourself set free. He wants to fight with you and for you! He wants you to see His hand in your life. To begin a strong relationship with Him. When you begin fighting off those demons, you will without a shadow of a doubt have more faith. With each deliverance, your trust and dependency on God will grow. And the best part of all, the joy your spirit will have when it sees the destruction of Satan's work in your life will add momentum to your longing for holiness and obedience to God. When you have new weapons forged against you, you will be able to say with David: "The LORD is on my side; I will not fear: what can man do unto me? " Psalm 118:6 KJV.

This is also, a key component for a victorious Christian. Because if you cannot stand against Satan, you will fall badly. You will be found in sin seven times worse than you were! Because, what demons do when or if they leave is they try to come back. And if they come back, they bring along seven others more evil than themselves. And your state will be seven times worse! If you don't resist them and give in this will be the result. But, Glory to God. He has always been merciful unto you and will deliver you for the umpteenth time. Though you may fall six or seven times you will rise again! God will lead you to battle your enemy every time and crush him under your feet. Standing over him in victory with freedom from the sin it was trying to enslave you to.

To continue of the subject of your new birth, God has given you to replace the nature of sin. But, sin is still in your body. It tries to draw you to its will. Sin in your flesh, will always be there. But when you fight that sin and the demons who empower that sin you are crucifying that sin and being used by God to show He is faithful to perform His word unto you! And when those devils leave you have basically been given overwhelming victory over that sin so to speak. Allowing you to kill the old man's habits with greater ease by the grace of God. (Col 3:9-10) God has said in His word, to stand firm against the enemy. When you stand firm against the enemy, you are standing against what he desires. His desires are the following:

1. Bring Guilt and condemnation, making you run away from God instead of to Him.
2. Make you Spiritually weak, being unable to perform what you know you ought to do.
3. Make you become complacent, to make you see sin as a light thing, while Christ paid his dearest blood for it. Causing you to become lukewarm. Which Christ said He will spit out of His mouth!
4. A sin sower, encouraging others and believers to sin like you and bringing them into bondage with you.
5. To give hostility between you and God. So that if you one day seek Him, you are angered by Him not answering with yes, I will do this for you. But "Repent, and I will answer." And God shutting His ears for you, because of your willing disobedience. Pr 28:9. Waiting for your genuine repentance.

And if you don't resist that sin. Not only will the type of demons associated become stronger each time. They will become more and more persistent in manifesting the sin they focus on. That sin, which was once a small stream of mud trickling over, will become a massive flood in your daily life. Twisting and perverting everything you do. Making your whole life its slave. And Christ has said through the apostles in His word that we must depart from sin. For He is our Lord, not sin. He is our master, not Satan. And to resist that enemy, you are going to have to fight off his assistants sent to protect their ground, and get rid of any demonic presence. You have not only God and His Spirit within you. But you have angelic hosts of heaven ready to defend you! There are more who are for you, than those who are against you. Satan and his kingdom, is nothing compared to the kingdom of God you are partaker of.

But now, I will mention how these sins work to give Satan access. Sin, is basically not walking in love towards God. Because if you walked in perfect love towards God, you would never sin. Jesus said, "If ye love Me, keep my commandments." John 14:15. When you choose to sin, you are basically saying "I don't love you God". And we have an obligation to do so, even if we don't believe in Him. Our accountability does not stop at a lack of knowledge or renouncing of it.

The fact you choose contrary to Him in an area that is serious enough, will give the enemy a legal claim before God. The claim of having the right to take possession of that area in your life spiritually. Every-time we choose to love ourselves or things of this world. We are saying to God by our deeds "You are not to be loved." We are saying to Him "We are gods and we deserve to love ourselves." But I must quickly interject this thought with one truth. We must love ourselves, but there is a difference between loving yourself and being in-love with yourself. To love yourself to such a degree that you care not for the plight of others. Not the commands of God. Nor any accountability to God. This is sin. And can lead to all manner of evil. My description of sin continues. We have fallen into so many sins in our lives.

Each one, is enough for God to condemn us. And He would have no obligation to pardon. Since every act of sin, is something that Satan uses to gain control and pollute the body that is the Lord's temple. You are actually letting in wickedness in the temple of God. And every time this happens, you are in fact partnering with God's enemy! And choosing to place your self under his governance in that area of your life. And hence, until you repent before God of that sin that governor will not have to leave. And if you do repent, he will set himself up for resistance and God may use this as chastening in order for you to not want to give him access again.

I have to end this section on sin being with us since birth in this thought. Every person in the world ever born besides Christ had or has this sin nature, how far each person goes into a sin is only determined by God's sovereignty. Because God set limits on each person as to what they will and will not do. But, the fact that sin is in our flesh, and in our bodies ever ready to slay us, must be remembered. The new Christian and the old must be aware that we remain vigilant against being ensnared by the enemy a second time. We are new creatures in Christ. This means we have what others do not. We have Christ in us, and are thus able to overcome every sin. Able to push back against Satan. Hence, sin should not be allowed to rule in us. Because each time we give it dominion, we are basically saying "This master I prefer."

Second section

I have stated in the previous section that sin is the mandate they use before God to have access to a person. And that sin, as a mandate for them gives them the right to perform their assigned tasks. But here is another factor that needs considerable attention. As it is part of the way they entrench and fortify themselves in a person. Demons become more entrenched and fortified the longer they are in a person. A person who has had a demon in them for a year or more may have allot more difficulty in removing them than a person who is fighting from the start. The reasons for this are:

- 1). After a while, the demon convinces the person that their sin is right. They convince them that is okay, and not a problem with God. Once the person's mind has been turned in this way, that demons have the humans support for their sin.
- 2). The demon will begin to add assistants to his work. They rarely attack alone. But will always work in a team. Once the team has taken hold, they will work to allow others in and strengthen their ways in a person.

My biggest battle in this with regards to helping others that I have experienced, is that once they have changed minds to believe the demons and their lies it becomes a near impossible struggle for truth in their minds and hearts. Because you are facing the demons along with the oppressed. And if that mind has lived in said mentality for a long time it will add to the stubbornness of the person. Meaning, that prayer and fasting may be necessary for him/her who wishes to minister unto them that a successful deliverance may take place.

I have seen how this can be a hindrance in a child of God's walk. Often-times a child of God will be caught in something that is perhaps in their mind not at all at odds with God. But, because of the length of time that reasoning has been there they even refuse direct instruction from God. This is why when you come to God or present from God you need to be willing to change. God, has never been one to cause doubt and confusion from His word. If His word, is at odds with you. You need to submit to the Word of God and ask prayerfully that God would reveal the full truth of the matter. He is faithful to do so. And I guarantee you, that once your mind is changed to the truth of the matter, God will deliver you from that demon. He might even do so without the demon being allowed to manifest! Since God is merciful, and will not allow you to go through such a thing if there is no help for you or if you are not in a position to deal with it.

And in the event of you having to deal with manifestations, God is there and faithful to fight on your behalf! Since, God said He is faithful to His children.

I can only continue in this section with the bitter truth. And this, a truth I say that is often-times ignored. We, when we were unregenerate, could not think about things as God sees it! Rom 8:6 Because, "The carnal mind is not subject to the laws of God. Neither indeed can be." And every unregenerate person has a carnal mind. Your mind, before you had Christ, was at odds with God and at odds with His will. Your mind longed for and sought after things that were wicked. If you truly are regenerate you should be able to attest how much your thoughts have changed. What you think about and why you think about it has all been transformed over time and will still change. The best part is, that as your mind is being transformed to the mind of Christ, you will see how your thoughts begin to have influence and impact with your neighbor. This carnal mind that has been forsaken, often caused a lot of damage prior to Christ. I know I sound somewhat like a broken record player, but the years that ticked by then had given opportunity for the enemy to draw you into sin. Which can (if God did not prohibit) give leeway to demons. Much of what we have today in the church regarding the impact of this truth is mostly unspoken. Due to this, a lot of people have habits and ticks that they consider to be a part of their personality! They believe it is who God made them to be! While in truth, it is far from it. They are actually accrediting the work of demons to human personality. There are traits which you may consider to be a part of who you are. But, when confronting that with the word and seeing how God actually made you, you begin to note that your personality in truth is much different than what you thought it was! For example. I know of people, who say that God made them in "x" way. And I will attribute a practical example. They will say, that God made them to be fearful. Even after they come to Christ! But this then later points out not to be the case. When:

- 1). When they confront that nature in the light of scripture, they begin to experience resistance other than themselves.
- 2). They notice that their behavior in such a manner is not "natural", but rather another intelligence at work.
- 3). They see that in truth they never wanted to be like that. But were comfortable with it. Since after a while they became used to it and justified it.
- 4). They see now, how that trait was masking the true identity God gave them even before being born again.

I do realize that this sounds oddly familiar when dealing with the renewing of the mind. But the primary difference is this. That the things we would esteem to be part of our personality, fall away. Not merely a specific bad thought pattern. Not just chaining your views on something, but in reality being delivered from a bondage created by the enemy. The fact that the enemy does this and can do this is almost unheard of and I have to say never taught of. The church today plays quiet about these things because tradition has replaced seeking God in spirit and truth. If all men and women for that matter sought God in spirit and truth to be delivered from all things that are contrary to the new nature and to the identity God gave us when He designed us in His mind, what a wonderful church we would be! I can even testify of a man, who I knew years ago in this. He was a friend of mine at the time. But I cannot divulge his identity as mentioned in my introduction. This man, I believe to be born again. But, troubled with many oppression. This man actively, was difficult in changing his mind about many things. He had many obsessions, regarding philosophy and unbiblical views on the nature of God. He obsessed over a pre-adamic paradise and how things could have been. When confronted over these, he was resistant and even tearful. His words to me where:

"But that's not the kind of person I am!" He had actually believed the lie that those notions and behaviors was the person he was born to be. Which is a complete lie! God will not ever give you a characteristic or personality trait that is in confrontation with His word.

Your personality, whatever that may be will always be unique, and in line with what is good. You may have a tendency to prefer a color over another. You like the outdoors instead of being indoors. That's fine. But what this aims at is when certain behavioral traits deemed in your eyes and others as natural, manifest what outright is contradictory to scripture.

The only thing that may be added to this specific scenario is that when dealing with this sort of thing in others, be very gentle. Since in their mind, you are basically attacking their very core identity. Not a sin issue. That would be easier for them to digest. But pray for them to realize the truth of the matter. And ask God to lead you when need be to help them break free.

Third section

In the last section regarding being born with the sin nature and how relates to demonic activity, I have to be frank and come forth with a few facts. No one has ever been in a position to deny that their past and the sin nature that occupied them however brief of a time that may have been, had not had a long term impact on that persons spirituality. I do know, that there are many children, who at a young age had genuinely come to Christ. We cannot deny this. The shorter the time, the less of an impact that the sin nature will have caused, and the less time demons would have had to have leeway in dragging that person into whatever manner of evil God allowed.

Now, I do realize I am treading on holy ground for some people. You will say. "But what evil could a child of mine have done? What great sin could they possibly do?" To which I answer, children, though allot less prone to wickedness than an adult are still drawn to sin, though limited. Since they have not been enticed by evil as much as an adult has and are innocent in many desires when compared. But, even at a young age, they begin to manifest that nature of sin. Tell me honestly, if the average seven year old had never done any of the following:

1. False witness (They lied... about anything)
2. Manipulated you or their friends (even toddlers have been proven to show this ability) Manipulation is according the word of God as evil as the sin of witchcraft.
3. Stole (even if it is just a cookie from the jar)
4. Imitated tv and movie characters performing witchcraft/magic.
5. Used foul language.

Look at this brief list... and I will promise you that they had done at least one of these if not more. Each one of these – with the exception of foul language - can if God does not prevent, give access to the enemy in a long term basis. And these sins, Christ said we have to repent of or He will visit us with our reward for them. And the reward/wages of sin is death. You may now be violent in your protest. And argue: "But they are just children! You cant expect them never to make such a mistake! You are being ridiculous!" But, I have to ask you this. Is God's law and His morality not always applicable? Accountability, begins as soon as you can discern between actions as being morally just and unjust. Look at scripture. Elisha, was mocked and teased by the children. And he cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two bears came and tore 42 kids to shreds. 2 Kings 2 23-25. From your first breath you were committing sin against most High God. (But will not be imputed for your sin until you begin to understand that there is light and a darkness). Your ignorance of His laws, does not cancel your penalty. It may be lighter than another who knew full well what God expected and still sinned. But every thing you do will be brought before God and will answer for it. Unless repentance takes place. Then, Christ your advocate with the Father, testifies and says: "I have paid for it. They are mine." That, is the only way for being free from sin and the eternal consequences. This very problem with children being allowed to perform these without gently being warned and corrected in love will make it even harder for them to change later. My issue relating to this stretches beyond child morality. It relates to what type of spiritual problems can be avoided if they were raised according to scripture.

Because, children have been found in specific cases to be under the influence of spirits and demons. (Once again, I am not saying all are. But this is a risk that can be run.)

I have to refer to another case. And I will be naming tv programs that have been found to cause demon-related issues in children in the rest of the book as well.

I once befriended a family of 4. They had a young daughter, I will call "Little Y". She was a bout six years old. Now, this girl, was quite of another sort. When attending church, she would not want to be with the kids group. But come hell or high water, she would to be with the adults and listen to the man behind the pulpit. Nothing wrong with that. Rather admirable and I have to say beautiful. But, this child started watching "Dragon ball z". In this show, the main character and others are martial arts champions that combine their skills with paranormal and supernatural abilities. Then they have long battles with one another. And they also have a powerful dragon, that they summon and is able to grant three wishes to any person when summoned. This is done by bringing seven magical balls together. The dragon is Biblically referred to as the image of Satan. And the fact this Satanic image is shown to have God like powers is very blasphemous. Many people, will say its a tv show. But its more than that. Demons can gain access to you by three methods. 1) What we confess. 2) What music we listen to. 3) What we choose to watch. And if you watch demonic programs, while being unsaved or unprotected with prayer, you are an open target for the enemy. And she was no different.

This is when certain behavioral issues were beginning. But besides lying to her mom about things, and having nightmares which I honestly could not have imagined how she must have taken it – she had one where she saw a rabbit but without its skin on – and how it traumatized her. (These two may be unrelated incidents. But I will not deny that the tv program had been watched prior to these events). It came to a point, where this girl would (as many parents desire of their children) go and play outside. But, instead of running on the lawn, playing hide and seek with neighbours kids or something you would expect, she would act out according to her mom the entire next episode of the series on tv. Her mom had watched it with her (I assume after she noticed Little Y's acting skills). She also had spouts of behavior contrary to what her parents were used to from her. There came one night when I went to visit them, we decided to end in prayer as they were going through tough financial difficulties. I prayed for their daughter as well. Who openly loved God and things about Him. I prayed for her specifically dealing with whatever could have been of the wicked one. At the end – and I believe this to have been under the guide of the Lord – I decided to look into her eyes. Wwith the intent of letting God reveal to me if anything is amiss. Matt 6:22. At first. She was all smiles and not at all bothered about this man's face in front of her. But slowly, her eyes squinted, and she slowly had started to turn her head to the side. I noticed a different person was beginning to look back at me. For whatever purpose, the Lord did not allow me drive the demon out nor to confront it outright. It is my belief, that God will deliver her when the time for it has come. And not a minute later. But I was not the one to do it. (Also, she was probably not ready to deal with such an experience at that young age).

Some of you will now immediately, say: "Where's your pastor? Where's their pastor? Why would God permit it to stay?" Their church attendance was erratic at my understanding - so I do not even know if their congregation had strong ties with them, and did not have contact details - and I do not know if their ministers were open to the concept of deliverance. (Some preachers write everything off as natural/chronic/non spiritual related.) But the fact is God would sometimes allow an evil to remain in a person for a purpose that we cannot reason out at the moment. He is able to use anything of the enemy for His objectives. I lost contact with them since their circumstances had drastically changed for the worse – and were starting to become dependent on me, which I could not afford - and I was unable to maintain a friendship with them. I had many years later, found out that the the girl and her brother are in foster care.

It can be stated that I would have wanted it to end differently with her. But in the very same breath, I believe that though man may make his plans, the Lord determines his every step. Prov 16:9. Perhaps now, I have given sufficient evidence to prove my case in this chapter. The case that our sin nature, and what happened to us prior to salvation has a long term impact on how we sin in our lives and the amount of demonic activity. Both of which will negatively impact others around us and ourselves. I will give a list of TV programs that have been found to cause problems of this nature at the end of the book.

Chapter 2: The devil's entrance

This chapter will be exposing how the devil will begin to manifest himself unto people whom he will try to intimidate & confront. The devil is by no means a stranger to introducing himself. If you look at what happened with Christ, Satan openly went to tempt Him in the desert. Matt 4:1-11. And Satan is more than capable of doing the same to you. He may come with an offer, a temptation, an attack or a threat. None of these are beyond the scope of his doings.

When Satan begins to try and become familiar with people. As in having access to them on a free and mutual basis, he will start by interacting in ways that he does not appear as normal. When he appears, he will do it in manner that you won't immediately recognize him. You might even be open to the conversation. The reason being, is that if you saw Satan in his normal representation, you would tell him to leave or you would leave yourself. This is something that any person, irrespective of Christian or Jew or Hindu would do. Even atheists would flee... well most of them

So what Satan does, is he targets you in a way that you won't expect. Via dreams and visions. The dreams and visions that he can give you, may even seem like a nice dream. It can even be quite pleasant. But, if there is one thing you cannot deny it is this... Satan knows how to deceive and manipulate. This he has proven himself in over and over again. He is capable of using anything in a dream to deceive you. And it is in this realm where he will often-times introduce himself to you. For example, when he wants to target children, he will begin by giving them dreams. These dreams, he will with his demons create a dialogue with them. Often trying to come across as non threatening. So they will want to hear or see him again. And as they become used to him, the demons can gain access to their bodies because of interactions in the dream. Which in turn will manifest in behavior differences and then as we have spoken before, give opportunity for more problems later.

I am going to relay an account of where I had my first encounter with demons. Long before I was saved. Now, I want to mention that I was very young – about 4 or 5 – and was by no means a child with “difficulties” if I can put it that way. But on an occasion, I had a dream where three (what I know now to be) demons approach me. They would come towards me at a point and stop. The fear I had was not all that. But enough. To this day I have no idea what their intentions were. But, this is clear. They either wanted to harm me, or to recruit me gradually. This happened a few times. Until by the grace of God. They stopped. And I never saw them again. My only thing about this, is that I did not tell my parents about it at all. 1) I did not see the importance of it. 2) Even if I did, my parents would have not dealt with it with seriousness it deserved – because of their own ignorance. But this shows that age is not a barrier for the enemy to target you. You have no “off limits” age in the spirit realm. There is no stage where you are immune to any attack. God by His grace may choose to prevent certain types of events until a particular age. But a child's age no means disqualifies them from these type of spiritual events. This can be a nightmare, a visitation, or anything of that sort.

Demons also introduce themselves in a physical manner when the targeted person is mature enough to respond to them that way. I will refer to another encounter I had with these. I was about 13 at the time. I watched a satanic movie – this is a few years prior to my salvation – and after that when I went to bed, I had three demons appear in my room. They wanted to recruit me, which they immediately made clear. The result, was that the enemy had basically been given more spiritual ground in me because of the movie I watched and they thought that they could potentially use this to convince me of their offer. But, by the grace of God, the Spirit of the Lord quickened my spirit to cry out to God for deliverance from these. After a few minutes, they left. And I was asleep. The next morning, I told my mom what had happened and she reminded me that they hate it when we cry out to God. Which was an assurance from God via my mom that He had delivered me. And that it was not an illusion and gave me peace that they were indeed gone. I never watched a movie like that again. The overall theme of this particular event and why I have to mention it, is that the more ground Satan gets in your spirit, the easier it is for him to drag you into the demonic realm. By this, I mean as in the occult. Demons also, have the desire to use people for their ends. But by this I am not just talking about the practices of specific sins that the Bible condemns. (Though I do not count them out.) I am referring to particular, occult and demonic rituals. Such as animal sacrifice, incantations, witch-craft, sorcery, transcendental meditation (aka astral projection). These are a short list of the things the Satanists partake in. And all of these not only give access to more demons, but are often performed with the assistance of demons to be able to manifest. Since much of the occult, needs their hand in order to be able to take place.

Now what also was happening that night, was that the demons had tried to win me over with their power. They tried to recruit me, based on their abilities that they offered me to share in. This is also how Satan lures teenagers in. By offering them everything they want. From money, to sex, to power to acceptance to anything that God could only actually give them. But the fact is, once they are in, they can be difficult to be freed from in that the person believe Satan's lies and developed an emotional attachment with Satan. Once that attachment is broken, people can be far more easily delivered. Because for them to finally hate Satan where they once loved him, is a big step towards walking in freedom.

I can only offer this bit of advice if you happen to know some-one who is openly a Satanist. Please do not hate that person nor condemn them. The only reason they went to that level of sin, is because God did not give them the grace to prevent it. It does not justify what they do, but it does place it in a slightly different light. And also, you need to show them compassion (by telling them the truth), because they are deceived by Satan. Satan will first make them hate God and not trust God. Then, Satan will make them hard against the things of God. And also promise them all manner of things that are worldly and spiritual (being, paranormal or just not the physical realm). The latter he being unable to give in certain contexts. For example, becoming a deity, eternal sin enjoyment etc and other things that ensnares them. They are in a spiders web. And the only way to get them out, is by witnessing to them the word of God in truth in love with prayers for them. You wont get them out by acting condescendingly or proud towards them. Since this will harden them even more and give ammunition for Satan to use against them to prevent conversion. (With the favorite line being: Just look at how Jesus's servants act!!) And create a blockage when listening to you.

It can take weeks, months, years for them to finally depart from Satan. But no matter how long it may take, this is true. God will save all whom He will. Nothing under the sun, can stop God from saving anyone. Whatever the Lord wills, He does. And it includes whenever He wills it. God has ordained an exact time for their deliverance and this means they will be delivered. No amount of sin, wickedness, demons or devils will be able to stop God when He wants to do it. There is nothing that can prevent God from freeing such a person. Therefore, I give this message of hope. Trust God to perform that what He has promised. He has never let any of those who trust in Him be put to shame. Psalm 25:3.

I will now go on into more cases of demonic introductions. This chapter, will cover mainly how these events take place and also what the objectives of these events can be, I will showcase what the enemies intentions in specific scenarios are and how to recognize them. The following events will also reveal what instruments he tends use and when.

The first incident was my first encounter with Satan after being born again. What had happened, was, that the previous day I had truly become born again. Now as any of you can imagine, this was not at all good news in Satan's kingdom. Hence, he decided to send an evil spirit to harass me in the night. I was not under severe attack, but got basically a threat from him that I haven't seen the last of him. What I saw, was in my dream the face of said demon, to terrify me. It did not last long. But they were clear as to what could await me if I pursued God. But my response was to run to God. I put on a gospel CD, and listened to the worship gently through the night. My spirit was soothed and I was encouraged by it. It comforted me in that it was over. And that God was with me. The reason Satan had come against me this way, was because he knew beyond a shadow of doubt that there was now, no possible way for me to go to hell. It was over! I belonged to God and everything of God's covenant was open for me to have. This scared Satan. Because he knows that every-time another person is born again, they are potentially as dangerous as Paul against his kingdom. They are capable of doing everything that the first Christians did. And he wanted me to try and be scared at him, so I wont try and have a close relationship with Christ. If Satan cannot stop you from being saved, he most certainly will not stop at trying to prevent you from being obedient and living a holy life before God. He will do everything to prevent you from having a victorious life in Christ. I have to be clear on something, The victorious life I am referring to, is not one of where you a live life of luxury. The victorious life I and the Bible talk about is a life of obedience to God, servitude to Him, sacrificing of your own will for that of Christ, and to trample upon the head of the enemy! Satan is terrified at the mere thought of how a Christian can by knowledge of the word of God and confidence in God's power crush his influence in their lives. Because if he has no influence over you, you are not going to be of any use to him! You are a weapon in the hands of God that can cut him asunder! Your prayers, your fasting will have more weight before God, your witnessing will have such great weight before men that it will undoubtedly cause Satan's work to crumble. Because they will be unable to righteously say, you are a hypocrite! Though that does not mean they wont persecute you... but it does mean they will be unable to testify against you with truth.

I want to go into the heaviest format of demonic introduction for my next event. This might sound strange as I have already been "introduced" to Satan at many times in my life just by what I have mentioned already. That said, Satan will always try to re-introduce himself if he can. Because he will try to change the perception of him from the last encounter. Satan will often if he is trying to convert you over come forth in one of the following ways:

- 1) Demonizes God and sets himself as a angel of light. 2 Cor 11:14
- 2) He will present himself as a "good" guy, a person only misunderstood.
- 3) He will attempt to substitute God with himself, as in saying that he is God.
- 4) He will mislead you away from God's true nature and pervert his values in your mind. To essentially say that God is evil and he is not.
- 5) He will lastly attempt to offer you whatever it is that you want. To make you love the things you desire above God.

When he comes to threaten you, to block you or harass you from seeking God. He will attempt it via the following:

- 1) He will send demons to harass you during the day. (though this will never be beyond what God knows you can handle with Him)
- 2) He will send demons to give nightmares.
- 3) He may encourage his servants to use witchcraft.
- 4) He may even himself pitch up to scare you with his presence.
- 5) People may be swept up against you, he may poison people's minds against you and try to use them to kill your passion for Christ.
- 6) He will also, if God permits, cause things to happen during the day to complicate your life. (Things break or wont work unexpectedly etc)
- 7) He will send his spirits to try and poison your mind against God or what you are doing for Him.

But I will now enter into a very heavy encounter I had with him. What I experienced was not of my own initiation, nor did I desire it at all. I had no longing to have this following scenario play out at all. I was in my bedroom, - not in bed - ready to sleep. And suddenly, I felt darkness, demons around me. And I mean it was dark,... it became so dark that I felt like I was in hell. I could feel the evil wrap around me. To my mind, the darkness had substance, like it was tangible. But I could see the evil in it. The darkness had wrapped itself around me over and over. This happened a few times. Which was when Satan was trying to prepare me for another encounter with him on a more potent level.

It ended quickly... but was not over for long. And this would occur over and over again. But, on the last encounter. I saw Satan in the darkness. He wanted to offer me power in exchange for turning homosexual. My spiritual life in that time was very, very low. I had lost my sanctification at that time. And was heavily involved with occult practices that I at the start did not even know was occultic! But I will get to that later. Each time Satan would approach me with it, I declined. I actually called out to God to deliver me from it! At that point, Satan had abandoned his idea. To the glory of God. My own experience with this however did not deter me nor cause me to repent. Because how all this evil started was many months prior.

My dad, was an estate agent. He had a successful agency and was well known in our town. Then one day, after moving to new offices that he forked out allot of cash to invest in and move into, it turned out that the building as not safe for occupancy due to ventilation concerns. My dad on his own expense added a grand air-conditioning unit that would make it safe for them. The owner of the building, wanted my dad to give it for him so that all could proceed without problem. This is where things went wrong. Because the man did not want to buy it from my dad. He merely wanted my dad to give it. To which my dad said no. In time things got out of hand and my dad had to go to court,.

I was angry and upset at how my dad was being treated. I went to God and asked him to kill the man who did this to him. God, after hearing me cry out a few times blatantly in my spirit said "No". Period. My response, was I went to Satan. In exchange for my soul, he was asked to kill the man. To which Satan/or his demon servant said that he cant kill him. Because the man is a Jew. But, he can kill his lawyer. This, I had agreed to. And two weeks later my dad reported how that man had suddenly died in his sleep. While being young, fit and healthy. Without any medical conditions.

A few months later, another lawyer was assigned and my dad lost a lot of money in the process. But, what Satan did was after I did that deal. He made me forget about it. He honestly blocked it from my memory. For years I would forget about what had happened that day. I would still attend church, and be in an absolute state of ignorance about my spiritual condition. Ironically, I even began trying to grow in Christ at some point. But my circumstance was difficult. As Satan had had his fun with me and my mom. He would make us attack each other and hurt each other verbally. But Glory to God even these wounds have been recently healed between us. Demons would harass me nightly. Which was part of God's chastening for the sin I committed. They would come every evening, and in that I would be beaten, raped, and harassed by them. God used this in two ways. 1) To discipline and correct me so that my soul might be saved. 2) To show me what the enemy is capable of and is allowed to do to some people and how he can harass them. This lifestyle continued for a few years. (Though the chastisement was only meant from God for a month, the enemy was allowed to lengthen it due to my ignorance). I was very much in a strange place spiritually. One foot in heaven, and another foot offered a second in command place in hell (which I never obtained). But, I will only add the following before getting to how God freed me. I was so under the influence of demons, that they even used me to send them after Christians. My result of this was just heaping more and more sin upon myself. But, God's love was greater. And He held on to me beyond any understanding. Which is why my love for Him is as it is today. God basically when it came time to deliver me, did it in phases. The first phase, was to renounce the demons that had been given to me to by own usage. A spirit guide, (which I did not even know I had until an evangelist friend pointed it out), and I had said. Sure.. God take it away. Second, I was picked up by him and taken to his office. Where an exorcism took place. And a lot of repentance and many demons were removed. But, not all. Yet, enough for me to be able to grow in Christ again. To be able to mature in Christ again. To be able to seek out God again. And this did happen in some way. But, it was only a few years later, when I attended a deliverance group that the required repentance and deliverance took place. And God, had after so many years turned His face towards me again. I also at home when I was all alone repented to God of all the wrong things I said and believed against Him. And the healing and restoration was phenomenal! I saw how my spirit was becoming a fountain of living water again! I saw life again! God was with me and I was able to fellowship with Him again. Glory to God! The church I was delivered at did a lot of good for me. And I am eternally thankful for their ministry. The work they did was a great blessing. But I was still unable to deal with all my problems because they were very religious (Pharisaical in some respects) and I did not want to open up everything I did. But, even this God ordained to happen. Because in time, I would be free from all the evils by his hand. The second phase of my deliverance, was when God had used me to stand against the enemy and in time would have me fight him off and repent of sin one by one. And it all came to a close when I had my final deliverance of the snare of the enemy when God led me to repent of everything that I had done. And then led me to stand my ground... firmly. This is why I said there were three phases in deliverance. 1. to get the worst issues out of the way. 2. To get important problems solved and forgiven. 3. To stand my ground against the enemy that he would not be allowed to take it back! Only when you can stand your ground firmly, with confidence in God, running to him at every battle can you truly say you have overcome.

This, I know might make you stand back and say "Wait a minute! You sold your soul, and then got back to God? You did that and was still saved?" Yes, I was. Because 1) You cannot lose your salvation. Period. We are predestined by God for heaven or hell. This is proven in the doctrine of predestination as outlined in Romans 9. Also, all souls belong to God. You can't sell it! You can't barter with it, it will always belong to God. As it is written. (Ezek 18:4) The reason why I did this deed as some of you may be wondering is this. God, had hardened my heart towards Him by removing His grace from me. As He said He is able to do. And then made me go about my ways. And brought me back. God has the right to do with His creation as He wills. If you want to read scripture to support this, see what happened with Pharaoh. God said to Moses that even before Moses showed up, God would harden Pharaoh's heart against Him. Exo 4:21. Exo 11:10. And God will harden whom He will and soften whom He will. Romans 9:14-18. How God does this, is by removing His hand of grace every single time. When He does this, the heart automatically hardens. This does not however exclude or remove my accountability to God while I did these things as He did not force me to do anything.

I had experienced in this not just what it feels like to be under such influence of the enemy. But I gained knowledge of how the enemy works, So, since I had experienced these it's easier for me to understand and comprehend what other may feel during their deliverance. (However, this was a by-product and not the purpose of my experience). It's easier to show compassion when you yourself had been through something similar. And this is the benefit that God has created from it.

As to my next one, it's not as severe. But, none the less important. Once when I went to bed, I fell asleep and believe it or not, I was taken to Satan's court in hell. His throne room. He bid me welcome. And I saw the following. Satan was on his throne, with demons everywhere. And there was a banquet, But, women were being raped by demons. At one point, I went to a table and saw a woman lying there naked. I saw what I perceived to be fear. And in the end, I told this person. I won't rape you. And in that instant she transformed into a demon. The result, was I was quickly taken out of there. And was back at home. I believed for years that God had taken me down with His Holy Spirit to witness this event. But, it was not the case. That created and open door for the enemy spiritually, so then I would get frequent attacks from the enemy because of it. But, after a while, God brought it up in conversation when I was visiting a Godly woman in my church. And the Lord used her to hammer on it.... to which I then shared it with her. And she was able to shed light on what I saw. The reason demons mock-rape is because they hate women. Why? Jesus was born of a woman. And out of women came every prophet. Every evangelist etc. But, I was first deceived by a false teacher that I knew things that I shouldn't know. Which made me keep quiet about for so long. After this encounter, it was good to get it out in the light and share it. I did one day repent of it, after I attended my last church that I was member of at the writing of this book. When God showed me it was not done by His spirit, Though, by His will. I repented of it. And the demon that was linked with these left me.

Some might argue that this was not real. That it counted as extra-biblical revelation. I can really understand and see why. But, bear in mind. I do have the following to back up my case from scripture. Satan has a kingdom. Matth 12:26. It is in hell. He hates all mankind. He especially hates women, since it was promised to her that she would bring forth the one to crush his head. Gen 3:15. It does not affect me or you for that matter. If you do not believe this account or not. If you do, you know a bit more about much the enemy hates women. If you don't, then you are just ignoring that bit of information. Along with the fact, that Satan will take people to hell to consort, counsel and talk with them. But, that said, there are far more important things from scripture to know. And these testimonies that I mention have one purpose only. To reveal how the enemy functions and what his weapons are how to deal with them. God can teach you all of these on His own. He is by no means bound to use me. But it is far more enjoyable and pleasant to learn from another's testimony, than to have to experience it or suffer due to a lack of understanding about the enemy.

When it comes to the devil's entrance. He has the ability to use almost every sense you have to his advantage. The sense of smell, taste, touch, sight, hearing and even his presence can be used to create an access. The next one, that I will be showing, will be one that often gets over-looked. But is none the less as dangerous and used by the enemy. This can take the form of ghosts. Ghosts, are demons. There are no such thing as wandering spirits or restless spirits. When you die, you go to be with God or are sent to Hell. For man is appointed once to die, then comes judgment. Heb 9:27. But, people tend to believe that the person they are seeing and hearing and even feeling is actually their deceased relative. Every person has heard about a ghost doing something. Making a room cold, making people hear voices, pushing people etc. But, this is nothing more than a scam of the enemy. And I dare say scam, that he gets you to think that you are talking with a your lost mom or dad, but actually are consorting with demons! People exploit this, like soothsayers and mediums etc. The demons, have seen your life and the dead persons life from the very second they exited their mothers womb. They know exactly what that person has done, and said their entire life. Then, they use this information to make you believe that that relative is still here! Now I know I am treading on holy ground for some people. But the truth is, that person you talked to who was your loved one in your mind, was a con. They said exactly what was needed to convince you. That person never did or heard or said anything to you since they departed.

But, here is where my encounter came. It was a few weeks after my dad's death. And I awoke one morning to my mom charging into the room to chase me out of bed. But there, my dad walked in. In his long pajamas. And by saying I saw him walk in it looked like he was actually there! I didn't see partly through him or anything of the sort. Everything was as it should look. But I knew it was not him... and it was painful. Cause I wanted it to be him. I knew my dad was gone. But, the demon came in and sat on my bed. Still... waiting for a response. But, I gave none. My mom went about her things as normal and only I saw him. If I gave in at that moment, that demons could have caused so much pain and torment. Now I know that many will argue that it was him. But this not the case... Christ said in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, that when they both died the one went to hell and the other to Heaven in the same day. Immediately Luk 16:19-31. Demons can use this as a method of deceiving you away from Christ. And even eventually leading you into the occult. Because, can you imagine how one would respond if their beloved to be lost loved one suddenly came and told them all sorts of lies contrary to scripture? Making false promises that would involve Satan at some point. Can you imagine how great an influence this can have on children. Which is why you have to take note of anything of the sort being mentioned by your children since they cannot discern the truth. If they tell you this, then you have to sit them down and teach them calmly from the word of God that it was not who they thought. And tell them that even though that it looked like so and so, it wasn't. You will be saving them allot of trouble. Even if the familiar spirit (which is what these demons actually are called in the Bible) does not do anything per se. The fact they believe it is that person will cause them to stand against God and His word when they are older. Because the Bible teaches contrary to what they then will be believing. And thus in their mind God's Bible can be wrong in one thing then logically the rest of the Bible too. But the fact is, God cannot lie.

To end of this event, you can deal with these demons in two ways. You can rebuke and in the name of Jesus they have to go. You ask God to take them away. Or if need be and you are in a position where might be difficult to act (due to other people being present who are not spiritual). Just ignore them! Demons gain no influence in some-one who does not give them attention.

Ghosts can use many excuses for the deceased hanging around. A sudden death, a violent death, a sad story or a lust for life. Fact remains, that even though a person may have died with more violence than you could imagine, it does not give any right or ability for them to remain behind. They don't linger on for revenge or hang around for company. They see God immediately after. Now, the demons may use their method of death to take legal ground in being present in an area because of how involved they were with the murder committed, or even due to unrelated sins or wickedness done in the same room. But rest assured, when you command these things to go, you are not attacking your deceased loved one but a demon.

My next account is the case where one demon among many tried to scare me from obeying Christ. They wanted to make me back off from seeking obedience to God. What happened was, I had a computer game I was very fond of.. Wars and Warriors Joan of Arc. It followed a fictional retelling of the historical character and person of Joan of Arcadia. Where she freed France from British occupation during the 100 years war. I actually fell in love with that game character. Yes your eyes are not deceiving you. I fell in love with that character in the game. So much so that I actually could not stop playing the game out of idolatry. That's the type of love I also had for her, and I idolized her. Because she was against the British and I had issues with the English people back then. This was due to the retelling of atrocities that the Brits did to my ancestors in Africa during the second Boer war. And God had to separate me from that game. At first I did not want to. But when I could not any more ignore the conviction of the Holy Spirit, I asked God to let me finish it first, to which He agreed. But, he also made sure that I flew through that game's missions and stages like a horse on a open field! And when I finished it... I uninstalled it and threw it away. In obedience to God. But, the enemy had not taken this lightly. He sent some spirits to scare me in my room that night. But, I kept still. And trusted in God to deliver me. How long they were there, only He knows. But after a while the Lord sent His angelic host and drove them away. I did not see any of them. But I became aware that they had left. And that was a clear sign that I had truly obeyed God... since Satan does not bother with you if you are not obeying God. In time I forgot about that game, now I only remember a few things about it. But, I am grateful that God freed me from it. That idol could have had greater negative influences in my life. The ways how this had created secondary problems are:

- 1) Joan of Arc, fighting the British could have been used by the enemy to add fuel to my hatred for them. And this is sin, since if you hate those whom you can see you cannot love God whom you cannot see. 1 John 4:20
- 2) Joan has been adopted by the Catholic Church and was used by the enemy to try and lure me into Catholicism.
- 3) My love for this fictitious version of her, could have been used by the enemy to obey a familiar spirit instead of God.
- 4) Also, this would have caused a blockage for me to spend time with God as I wanted to see this fake persona every day.
- 5) The violence glorified in this game was conditioning me to act in violence against people.
- 6) The person of Joan is allot different from the character portrayed, which means that
 - a) I loved a lie
 - b) I loved a dead thing
 - c) I openly praised and honored this dead person who was by no means a saint.
 - d) I had given part of myself – my emotions – to some-one who could never respond.

These issues were specific to my character and personality. They would probably not appear with another person. But, the fact is God showed me how dangerous this was to me. And even if not one of the idolatrous aspects was there, the fact that violence had been gradually conditioned in me is contrary to scripture. God said in His word, that we are to be wise as serpents and harmless as doves. Matt 10:16. Hence, if we walk about with a heart of violence, how can we say we love God? How can we say we love our neighbor? And if we cant love them we can see, we cannot love God we cannot see. God also said in His word that those who live by the sword shall die by the sword. Does this mean we may not defend ourselves as Christians? Of course we can! We may defend ourselves. We may take a life when it is the time for it. Eccl 2:4. But, not maliciously nor willingly, nor in hatred. Since these are the distinctive traits of murder which God forbids. All of which this game and the character had encouraged.

My next one, is a bit of a bitter story. As it details how Satan is a false prophet and false promise giver. There was one night when I was promised by the enemy that I would be able to get my dad back from the dead. That my dad was in fact in hell. But this was a lie. My dad was and is still with the Father. And Satan knew that I missed him terribly. I was close to my dad. So he gave me dreams and visions of what might be... what he said he can do for me if I went to him. My vision entailed the house I grew up in. The things we had back then and my dad in front of the house. A part of me wanted it to be possible. But in my heart I knew this could not happen. And God had intervened for me, and reminded me that though Satan is “god” of this world (meaning he can give me money and worldly things) he cannot bring my dad back from the dead. It was not possible. And God over the years since on occasion had reminded me of how I will see my dad again in eternity. Which still makes me emotional when I think of it.

I cannot say enough that you cannot put anything beyond what Satan may offer you. He will offer you anything you can think of just to get a hold of you. In any way he can. All manner of things that he cannot do, are on his promise list. From long, long life, to riches, to fame to glory of man. And anything he promises you will come with one undeniable price tag. Rebellion against God. Since to consult with demons is sin. And to trust in them while the Holy God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob is alive and well and able to do all things that you can think of, who is able to perform anything you can ask Him, with power beyond all reasoning, who is also for you and not against you. Is a great insult to the God who knows what's best for you.

My last one to end this chapter with will be something that we all thought was normal. And that is the one of imaginary friends. Yes, the one you had when you were about five or six. This can be a very dangerous thing to have as I will show. We all have had the story of so and so sitting next to you as he/she was you friend who ran around with you. But, that friend disappeared when you became older. That friend was forced by your family to be honoured at the dinner table with a seat and to be dished up food, to be put to bed like a real person – wherever this might have been – and had a name. I cannot recall mine having a name but I recall him being taken care of.

But this is the danger of it. Children might inadvertently give access to familiar spirits if they are not careful. Because they cannot discern between a figment of their imagination and a demon telling them they are their friend.

Children have been recorded as doing all sorts of evils that was instructed by their imaginary friends. From stealing, to breaking to anything you can imagine. Though I never had these kinds of experiences by the grace of God. The fact that my parents so openly allowed and encouraged my invisible friend could have had so much detrimental effects on me. But I will discuss this specific behavior with the following basis from scripture and how to deal with it. Demons are also often called familiar spirits... and these have been mentioned earlier. But children in this case can become more open to their involvement sine they are in this way shown as non threatening. But, once they have the child's confidence they will begin to use fear to get them to do their will.

(An example of a child's fear being used is when the recent Momo demonic craze was used to cause children to commit suicide to protect their parents from Momo.)

It is best when your child shows these kinds behavior to sit them down quietly and tell them that there is no one there. Even if they argue with all manner of violence in their tantrum with snot and tears running down their face. It is better to tell the truth for them. Since that is what God our Father would do for us. He would not allow us to be swept up and away by a lie. God is truth and in Him is no lie. Therefore, we as parents have to portray God in this light. God, cannot and will not ever give approval to a lie that give place to sin. Therefore, we must use this in the right light... your child's spiritual well being is at stake here and as the priest of the house, the dad must enforce that the truth be told every time. In everything. The wife, must submit to her husband in this and not under any pretense of "treating their child to childhood" allow anything evil the opportunity to manifest. I do understand that allot of people who had imaginary friends did not have supernatural or evil experiences accompany them. But, to protect us from the risk I believe it is for the better. And I guarantee you, the image that your child has of you, will be in their conscience and later subconscious mind a filter of how they view God. This has been proven with research. If you want to give your child an accurate portrayal of God, then speak the truth always in love and with gentleness when needed. The reward from this, is that your child will have a better view of God and will have a stronger relationship with Him when they are older.

But now, that I have mentioned this last event. I will summarize my thoughts about this topic. Demons have since the beginning of time been attempting to communicate with man. Even with Adam and Eve. Satan went to Eve in the form a snake. She would not find it threatening as it was a creature made by God. And when this snake spoke to her, for reasons I cannot image she did not get scared nor freak out. The same is true today. You can see this ancient formula used over and over again in some of my accounts. Which is why I thoroughly encourage you to study the scriptures to spot how the enemy works. For as it written: "We are not ignorant of his devices." 2 Cor 2:11 This will allow you in time to be able to stand against him in full confidence. My other thoughts on this is that Satan wants to be known by some. But not by all. He wants the elect to know of him so that he may cause them to fear him. Or he may want you to know of him so he can recruit you to his war. To make you a vassal for his agenda. But the honest to God truth about this is that he (the enemy) wants you to know him if it suits his purposes. That being what I mentioned. In other cases he does not want you to know of him since then he can do whatever he wants to in your life and you walk about thinking that "Such is life" or if you are a believer in God, that you will accuse God of doing wrong while it was Satan.

This will differ form person to person and will change in effect as you grow in Christ and come to awareness of the enemy by the grace of God. But, Satan will always introduce himself as to draw your attention away from God in the primary position God deserves. This is to turn your energy and your efforts away from serving Christ, to constantly run after a barrel of empty promises or even worse, suffer under an enemy that God almighty had put under your feet by the blood of Jesus Christ. Making you suffer needlessly under a evil and unholy burden than God has set you free from in truth.

My biggest concern in related to demon introductions is that Satan no longer uses the old methods of approach exclusively. He can now use new things that were not possible in the times of Christ. Such as, computer games with heavy demonic and occult practices. (These will be mentioned in a list at the end of this book with a short description of them and contain why they are evil.) Where you even attack God and his deity in some of them. All of which are used to ensnare and entice people of every age and background to his ways. And parents and pastors today are blind to many of his weapons because they have been culturally accepted for generations.

The introductions stated are by no means a complete exposition on how they may appear. But serve to give an overall description of some of the most common tools used by the enemy. However, that said, there is not one weapon that is formed against you that Christ had not overcome nor will abandon you too. So even if there are hundreds of weapons that I did not experience to inform you about... they cannot under any circumstance hinder what God has planned for you. You are in His hands. Even when you don't feel like it. I stated earlier how Satan's objectives are related to what he intends to do with certain visitations. But this is the climax of all these goals in one. That they each serve to make you fear, worship and serve the creation more than the creator. Who is blessed forever. Amen. Rom 1:25. This is the primary foundation of every one of his objectives and the end goal of it. Since they are based in fear of the creature and their goal is to serve a specific creature that was made by God, but rebelled. Each one of those... no matter how normal they may seem, or little of an evil they may appear. They serve to make you worship and glorify the enemy.

There is another reason why God had me go through all of these. That I might know from experience how to be delivered and as a by product have empathy warning others of not repeating the same mistakes that I did. Educating you to be more of a living sacrifice to Him... that He may receive from you all that He is due. Since if you learn from another's experience, and judged it with the Word, you can avoid his/her missteps. And by so doing ease your path with God. Plus, it will reveal to you what God still expects from you to repent of to ensure that you are cutting off all access that the devil and his angels have to you at this moment. Allowing you to walk on his head in full knowledge and confidence and trust in Christ and who He has declared you to be. Without any complications from a stubborn foe you don't know how to deal with in the authority that you have been given. The last words on this chapter will be as such. Let God expose every evil that there may be within you, and let Him give you the knowledge and understanding to get rid of their claim before God and letting the enemy feel the full force of the power of the Kingdom of God against him. Making you the head and not the tail in truth. It has already been done for you at the cross, and not it waits to manifest in your life.

Chapter 4: When the enemy shows his signs

Section 1

Satan, when he attacks can give off many calling cards to his presence and or oppression. Thankfully, when you have Holy Spirit inside of you. You can see clearly by His guidance what is of the enemy and what is not. What are symptoms of an oppression and what are illusions of these.

The enemy has various attacks which in themselves are a calling card of his presence. This may sound like an obvious statement, but what you forget is that when the enemy comes against you allot of his oppression are passed off today by psychiatrists, doctors and even ministers as normal. Or mere fantasy of the victim.

I will now list a number of things that can be signs of oppression. And in cases needed explain exactly why they are:

1. A man who suddenly speaks in a feminine voice without his control at random and inopportune moments. (not puberty)

This is an attack of the enemy... the reason behind this is because Satan hates the masculine male image. Why? Because man (as in men) are made after the image of God. Gen 1:26. And, men have the responsibility of being priestly head of a household. Interestingly, most criminals today, and individuals with varying social problems can trace their problems to an absent or misconducting father figure. And research has proven even that 95% of gays have bad relations with their dad's. Conclusion? It is to attack the image of God, and to defame and humiliate men. This is something that the author has experienced in the past. And every time it was linked with a demonic oppression. When the demon was chased off, my voice returned to normal. This could be from a short term attack, to a long term oppression of the enemy. This however, should not be confused with a boys maturing during puberty. When his voice naturally creaks and squeaks at random moments. One way to tell the difference is that a puberty influenced voice quickly returns to normal. While a feminized voice lingers, especially during moments when it can cause embarrassment. Also, since when did you hear of a 24 year-old's voice of going through puberty again? Yet, seek God in those circumstances and ask Him to show you what is the cause of it. And I promise you He will always give the right answer.

2. Sensations of physical contact

Sensations of physical contact can accompany demonic attacks. This may be to the extent physically being touched. Where you can literally feel the hands of the enemy. I have been literally pushed out of a chair I was relaxing in. And before you think I was half asleep and dozed off out of my chair, I was sitting down ready to eat with makeshift tv dinner. Feeling two hands push on me from behind over and over until I fell forward and my dinner landed on the floor! This can be done with the simple purpose of harassing you. Once again, best way to deal with it is to ask God to remove them and or ask God why they have the right to touch you in the first place. Which, if inquired from Him, He will answer and then you can repent and close those doors they are using. By asking Him to forgive you of those sins that created those doors.

3. Sensations of sexual nature without anyone present

Demons want to engage in sexual relations with people. Irrespective of you wanting to do that willingly with them or not. They are homosexual in nature, And have no qualms with raping and torturing men and women in this manner. I have experienced being raped by a demon as I mentioned earlier. But this particular case was of a separate incident. When I had a very much sanctified life before God and was growing in my relationship with Him. I went to visit a friends home from church. And on this evening it went fairly well and normal. Nothing odd happened. We fellow-shipped together. We had a BBQ. And all was well. But that night when I went to bed I prayed as normal, but before I went there I asked God to cover me in the blood of Jesus. Because I know of things in their household that no Christian should have. This is related to Harry potter paraphernalia as well as computer games of occultic nature. And when I got home I was off to bed. That night, a nightmare took hold. I dreamt I was on a green grassland. And then a river appeared. And a short, stubby man came who was attacking me. And I rebuked him in the name of Jesus to leave. He would fall back... but eventually he overpowered and I saw how he raped me in the dream. It has to be said, that during the rape nightmare, I felt the enemy physically. To an extent. Then at a point Christ intervened and stood behind me. Then I rebuked him again to leave in Jesus name but I could see the fear in his eyes and he was not looking at me but at someone behind me. To this day I believe it was Jesus. Then I awoke. But I felt dirty. I prayed to Christ. And I pleaded the blood. And I asked Christ to forgive me (which in hindsight I realized was not necessary). But I still felt dirty. Then, I did something I thought I would never have to do. I was lead by the Holy Spirit, to spread my legs as if I was giving birth. The result, was a pain sensation I have never had in my life before. But it was not physical. It was a spiritual pain like no other. I have had allot experiences with pain. But that cannot be compared with. I felt literally like I was giving birth, but instead it was in the spirit filthy water being washed away by the Holy Spirit. With a divine fountain from the Lord. When this was done, God comforted me. And I was restored. Later that day, I contacted another church friend of mine and told her my experience. She said that she knew something was wrong, because the previous night before she went to bed she was lead by God to pray for me for protection. And she had told me of another person who experienced something similar to what I have been through a few days earlier. At this point, I know many of you are going to argue and say it was nothing more but my brain toying with me. But what I will say is this, God will always arm you and educate you for a type of battle that you may face. He will never let you have to go through something of this nature without Him teaching you how to deal with it. Either before or during.

This is also where many ministers begin to falter. Since the Bible does not give explicit details of what type of attacks people can go through, they often would write this off as a bad dream or nightmare at the most. While the poor victim, go's on suffering. And this as an indictment to them as ministers. Since they are so fixed on their boxed in seminary teachings (as good as these are), that they never seek to ask God for discernment in these matters and think of it as rubbish. Where-as I guarantee you with God as my witness that if they sought God for discernment in these matters with wisdom that they would come to the conclusion of these cases being at least in some instances true testimonies.

4. Nightmares

Nightmares are often from Satan. God, when He sends you a dream, will always be in the sense of giving you a warning or a message of hope. Satan, when he wants to torment you will use nightmares over and over again. But in nightmares, demons are not always required. The fact that the experience causes fear, is enough. So if you dream you are falling and falling to your death and have great fear. Then they are happy. You don't always have to dream of monsters and have horror movie characters present.

Let me give you a near 100% sure fire proof that God is giving a warning of them for you. If any dog, or canine creature appears in your dream, then there is a high probability of demonic activity. In the bible dogs are often lined symbolically with the wicked, and with evil. 1 King 21:19, Psa 22:16, 22:20. Thus, if you ever receive a dream, where dogs are present. Seek the face of God immediately. As to what this is referring to, because in some cases it can be a sign of affection, since in Luke 16, Lazarus was licked by dogs. For God uses that image to indicate either.

5. Physical ailments

Please this must not be considered as calling every type of disease as demonic! This has no bearing on Chronically classified diseases. Motor neuron disease, Parkinsons, MS, etc. However, the fact is many natural disease have a spiritual origin. For example, Asthma, can be caused by un-forgiveness, and cancer can be caused by bitterness. But please, do not think that it will always develop into these. But, if a person has these conditions, and they are recurrent and more deadly each time, then investigate if these spiritual illnesses exist in them. And if they do, these may prevent any successful permanent recovery.

Also, other conditions can be caused by demons directly. I started suffering from winter hands as we call it in South Africa. It is a blood circulation ailment where blood stops flowing to your hands when it gets cold. But, the room was at a temperature of 60F. Which I think we all can agree is far beyond what you would expect it occur. When it started, I dealt with it by putting my hands in very hot water. And after a few minutes it would recover. But one night, when I prayed against it, my right hand went bleach white in an instant and felt strange. It looked like it had every drop of blood drained from it.

And the demon manifested and confronted me even addressing me with my own mouth saying how he will torment and make me suffer. But, I went to church a few days later. And they prayed for me and then they exposed that demon of affliction and it left me. Since then, I have never had that spirit or that problem so severe again.

6. Mouth Frothing

This is another type of manifestation. Where a thick, white froth comes from the mouth. And I do not mean a little bit of froth like on a teaspoon. Though it can manifest in such small numbers. The froth is a combination of foam and a dense, thick, seethrough gelatine like fluid. This tends to materialize when a person is under demonic attack. Since it can be used to effectively stop a person from speaking.

The other reason is that demons manifest and leave the body via this froth. In this case, I am speaking now directly of when deliverance takes place. Often when a demon is commanded to leave in the name of Jesus, that demon may leave in this form. The froth is not always needed. A demon can leave via a quiet exit (though this is by far the lesser case). They don't have to go each time with a show. But this can take place.

Demons can leave via the mouth with a cough, and or vomit. Though, the latter in my experience is the least common.

I will refer to a case, where I needed deliverance. This happened, when I was receiving council with a team to get delivered. And during this, often when a said demon leaves. They would do so with a bit of foam leaving my mouth. The foam, would sometimes dissolve upon impact with water.

My first experience with this, was when I started to seek God. And back in those days I had allot of evil to get rid of. Sins and oppressions that God wanted me to be free of. And the first time it took place, I was not sure what was happening. But I went and spat it out immediately. And the Spirit of God informed me that it was a demon that left me that way. And this gave me allot of confidence that Christ was purifying me.

These types of manifestations can occur any time you are confronting a demon. Thus it is wise to do so when you are alone, or - if it is a stubborn spirit - with another God fearing and informed believer who can assist you. Since confronting a demon like this in public may cause difficulties. Such as in the middle of having a mouth full of froth, you get greeted by some-one who passes by. And then have to dart away or awkwardly spit it out in front of them. Which can be difficult to explain. Especially to an unbeliever. But fear not, even though they may confront you in this way, God is with you and He will deliver you. My biggest concern with this is that you do not, under any circumstance swallow that foam! No matter how difficult the situation is. You leave the area immediately and go spit it out! Because if you swallow that back in, you will let the demon in it back in with seven other more wicked than itself. And the last thing you want is to deal with that devil again with seven assistants to try and prevent his eviction from you!

My last thought on this particular section is that when God works to deliver you, and you notice any of these signs. You should immediately run to God. He will free you. He might let you have a bit of a fight with the enemy in Jesus name, but this is only for you to be able to appreciate and rejoice more with God in the victory that Christ gave you.

Section 2

The following section on signs of the enemy, will not be so much as with direct oppression from a victims perspective. But from a intercessors point of view. What God might reveal to you who are interceding on the behalf of another.

1. Music

Should the person have any music playing of an occult theme, this is a dead give away. Demons are heavily assisted with music glorifying Satan and his kingdom. Since it affects the atmosphere and the words spoken in them (when there are words), can cause a persons soul, to be more open to the demonic.

I wont list every single occult album and group that exists. But I will mention the following identifying clues.

- a) Their album has a pentagram, the baphomet, skull, demon, death glorifying, drug glorifying image on it.
- b) The lyrics endorse homosexuality, bestiality, suicide, murder, rape, etc.
- c) The album's group, have open occult connections.

Now, I will mention the following artists/groups that have to be avoided at all costs. Besides the ones that match the above mentioned categories.

- Queen of the Damned
- Marilyn Manson
- Black Sabbath
- Cradle of filth
- Judas priest
- Lady Gaga
- AC/DC
- KISS

I have listed to my experience the most dangerous ones I encountered. But the following, I will state are to be avoided as well. These are the foundation builders of allot of the music of what the above mentioned based their skill on. These musicians are popular. And they are mostly old school. But these progenitors of rock and roll all have admitted to selling their soul to the devil and or were openly anti Christ or at least in private.

Rock and roll, has its origins in the country music scene. The artist Robert Johnson. This man, could not play a guitar to save his life. But, when he left town, he met Satan along the way and openly sold his soul for fame and fortune and playing ability. He even recorded this contract in one of his hits where he sang: “ Early this morning when you knocked upon my door, And I said: Hello Satan, I believe its time to go. Me and the devil, was walking side by side. Me and the devil, was walking side by side. And I'm goin' to beat my woman until I get satisfied.”

The rock and roll hall of fame said that this man's music is the foundation of rock and roll and modern blues.

This man's approach to music is the same for all the following artists that I will mention. You will be surprised about who I mention:

- Beatles: “ We will become more popular than Jesus.” And in their song they even worshipped Krishna and worked that gods name into a hallelujah song on purpose to trick Christians.
- Elvis: Was heavily involved with the new age movement and even name his gospel band after his favourite magazine the “New age voice”. And he told many people that he believed Jesus had an affair with Mary Magdalene. Plus, he was very heavily involved in occult in that he would use his music to teach that a man can redeem his own soul if he would just believe.
- Led Zeppelin: Richard Cole, the groups manager, said that every one except John Paul, refused to participate selling their souls for power, fame and fortune.
- Little Richard: He confessed (To use his own words) “I was directed and commanded by another power, the power of darkness.. The power of the devil. Satan.” To use his own words. “We must realize that there is a force that is fighting against us in this world, the Devil was controlling our minds”.
- Beach boys: Warner Brother records president Larry Waronker, claims to have encountered at least five different entities that use Brian Wilsons body as their home.
- Carlos Santana: Admitted to being used by a spirit by the name of Methatron. He has been associated in the eye of the triangle in occult history.

- Katy Perry: Admitted on a Australian talk show she sold her soul to the devil
- Fleetwood Mac: Their one artist Stevie Nix was referred by Rolling Stone, as : "Fleetwood Mac's blond Priestess of the occult." Their music also glorifies the occult.
- U2: The artist Bono, held an upside down cross. And in music, this only had one meaning. Eternal doom.

There are numerous other artists to mention. But I believe I have given you a strong list to go through.

These albums, must be removed and be repented of listening to. And singing them as well. Since demons can gain access to us by what we say and choose to listen to. And by the music we listen to, we can actually change our thinking, behaviour and reasoning.

2. Occult images

These images contain anything that was mentioned in demonic artwork on albums. Further, these images, if they contain ANY of the following must be removed. Since they are always associated with the demonic. I will explain how by what they symbolize.

1. Skeletons, and skulls out of context in biology. These are symbolic of death.
2. Demons
3. Upside down crosses..
4. Zombies: This is a mocking of Jesus' resurrection
5. Witch-craft symbols.
6. Heathen faith symbols
7. Suicide images
8. Pornographic images
9. Dragons: Dragons are the image of Satan. The Bible calls him the dragon in Revelation. 12:9

These tend to occupy homes of people who have at least some association with the occult or are under demonic oppression. Since these images have demons attached to them at all times. There is no way, you can have any of these images in a home without a demon being connected with it. There is just no way around it.

What these demons do, is they constantly while you go about your day will manipulate and influence your thoughts against God. They will do anything to stop you from seeking Christ.

3. Book instructing on the occult

These books are always the ones that catches the most influence. They teach people how to perform occult practices. This can range from witch-craft, to necromancy, sexual immorality, to charming (a form of magic where you say the same thing over and over). These books, must be removed immediately. Since they also bring demons into a home and lure people to read them. When these are read, they will then gain access to the persona and use them for witch-craft practices.

4. False religions manuscripts

If the person is suffering from an oppression, they must remove any and all heathen religions writings. Since each one of them has a demon that will try to lure you into that faith. And every time you read those texts, and are not protected by God – meaning He has not given you any reason to study them for the sake of evangelism – you are giving a demon chance to occupy you.

5. Self mutilation

Any person who cuts themselves intentionally I guarantee has a demon involved. The demon may cause this for different reasons. For example. He may motivate this based upon a desire of enjoyment. Because the person may actually enjoy seeing the blood. Another reason is because they want to escape the pain of something else by creating a new pain to focus on.

How this may start in a person, will be covered in brief. But there are other causes that will be mentioned later. For one, they become very emotional – and hence women are an easy target since they are so in tune with their emotions. And what will happen is a demon will approach them and encourage them to do it. Once the first cut is made. That demon will take occupation.

In this case, the person needs to confess why they do it. Even if they don't want to. They may deny it, but they have a root cause that made them start. And once this is addressed, then they will be more able and willing to become healed from this. Because if the root issue is healed, then the demons looses his hold to a vast degree. Since that is what he will use in them to rationalize his occupancy. To justify it. And once his justification is refuted, and the sin repented of then you can in confidence command it to go. But remember, the cutter needs to repent of this! It is sin. Since our bodies are a temple of God. 1 Cor 6:19-20 . And to prove it is a demonic practice. Mark 5:2-5

“And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit, Who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains: Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him. And always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting himself with stones.”

6. Drug Abuse

This will always have demons attached. Since it is linked with witch-craft. And the occult... irrespective of whether it is weed recreationally or the main stream destructive drugs.

Demons have always been attached with this since drugs allow them to manipulate converse and interact with a person's mind. By causing their soul to become “unstable” and very much easy to manipulate. Demons linked with addiction – literally a spirit of addiction – and whatever else they can create in the person. The demons will always encourage drug abuse as it has a detrimental effect in their reasoning and their physical bodies. This can range from mental skills, to verbal skills, to physical abilities to sexual activities perverted etc.

Once again, the motives behind the addiction have to be addressed, And only once this healed. Can the person move on from the addiction. They need rehabilitation. And also to cleanse from the drug. But the biggest problem, is that once they leave the rehab. Demons try to encourage those same addictions again. And then, should the person take these drugs they are seven times worse off than when they started. This is why a support structure is needed for them. One that will in love encourage and motivate them to remain as over-comers. Because, whatever lead to their addiction, will arise again by the enemies hands. And if they are not supported by God fearing friends and family they may fall back into it.

But this is their hope, that Christ who has set them free has set them free indeed. Hence they can and will remain free if they trust and believe on Him. And believe in their deliverance. Otherwise, their chances of relapsing are great.

Section 3

The section that preceded this was more focused on the manifestations of demonic activity and clear paths for their involvement in the lives of people. This section, will deal with more acute instances of demonic activity that may not always be accounted to demons. But often tend to be overlooked as natural/normal or basic human error/behavior. Each case will deal with the exposure of specific spirits. Which know how to work in man to create the sense of it being nothing spiritually based but worldly based. The first case, will be exposing a spirit that will always try its luck. And that is the spirit of rejection. This spirit will influence relationships irrespective of professional or personal. Whether romantic or friendship based.

That spirit, tends to work its way into a person who suffered severe emotional rejection at some time or another in their youth. I would not discount the possibility of having this enter an adult. But the majority of cases are in children under 10. And then in the years following they become more and more entrenched in the victim.

What this spirit does, is create an irrational and enhanced fear of being rejected by people. Which will impact friendships. I also suffered of this. And what happened was, my parents at certain moments rejected me (during singular events of my childhood). Some being even used as a method of teaching. They never intended it to be used of the enemy. But, if there is one thing we can all agree on. Satan does not need to be offered twice a chance to commit evil. Also, children are more susceptible to this type of thinking. Since their strong and natural desire for acceptance and love from parents are an easy target for Satan. Since they cannot always perceive the intent of their parents when they are being interacted with. Many cases of perceived rejection, was not that. But merely circumstantial perceptions. However, the damage has been done.

In my case, I had severe rejection issues because I longed for acceptance from friends and family. My mom, for many years did not accept me as God intended for me to be. She rejected me when I did not perform to her will. In any field. This, made me start wanting to prove my value and gain acceptance that way. And increased the enemies hold over me. It got to such a point, that Satan would even suddenly come upon all my unsaved friends, and cause them to come in agreement and flee from me for no reason other than to harm me emotionally. Which increased my fear of rejection. So, as time went by... my fears increased. And my behavior was built upon that.

I could not handle rejection as well as I should have. I didn't always openly show others how I felt. But internally I was being torn apart. And would weep on my own. Friendships. Family, the lot. But God was always showing me that no matter how the world may reject me, He has approved and accepted me. He has given me all acceptance. He is sufficient for all this. And by the Grace of God, God had lead me to Godly men and women who did showed that love of Him towards me. Their work of love towards me, gave me so much joy and peace that they will never know in this world.

My deliverance came when the pastor of a church I attended addressed the subject. And God lead me to go forward. He prayed, and the oppression left me. This, had drastically altered my behaviour and my attitude. It also had similar effects on a friend of mine. This poor girl, was almost aborted by her mom. The soul of a child in the womb, does hear what we say over them. And when her soul, heard her dad say to her mom to have an abortion. That spirit of rejection went into her. Because her soul realized and knew full well what he was saying. Thankfully, this abortion never took place and the dad was rejoicing over her when she was born. And he loves her till this day.

But since then the enemy was in her. And made her become very quickly, overly emotionally attached to people. Especially of a strong moral male character. This I knew, since in her youth when we became friends (she is my junior by about 8 years). She would give me such a tight hug (to a point I thought she going to crack my back), and not let go even if I pleaded with her (not joking) out of pain and not being able to breathe. This was one of the signs of that oppression. And made her often fear the possibility rejection from me. Another thing that this spirit may cause, is a irrational conclusion of rejection. Making you see rejection around every corner so to speak.

She was delivered at the same church I attended. And since then all things went well. She stopped clinging around me for dear life, and her relationships with her boyfriend in the coming years were more stable.

But now here is the main goal of the spirit of rejection. It also addresses how we see our parents. Do we see them as loving, embracing, accepting people? Or do we see the opposite? Why is this so important? Psychologists have studied and found that the way how you perceive your parents, will always be part of your initial perception of God. And in later years in the back of your mind, being part of what you expect from Him. Which means there are so much more nonsense for God to remove and renew our minds from. But with God, all things are possible. So rejoice! Whatever wrong mindsets you may have of Him. God is able to correct those.

The next one, is a spirit of poverty. The name is what it sounds like. It creates a state of poverty in a person financially. No please, do not confuse this with saying being poor is demonic. It isn't. Being poor or rich does not have any value before God. Neither is a sign of His blessing and acceptance nor His rejection. However, there are spirits of poverty that try to attach themselves to people to try and block them from growing financially. Making them become dependent of government and or friends or family or in the worst case scenario... becoming destitute.

How this spirit gains access can be from a number of things. It can gain access through certain types of music, as explained in section 2 of this chapter. Or from exposure to other occult objects. This spirit will then set about to cause the oppressed to suffer greatly financially. By making them act in a way that would make them lose business deals, job opportunities and the like.

That spirit, cost me a large sum of money. But I will mention three things that it had done.

1) When I was looking for work after college. I wanted to contact the last company I freelanced for practical experience to obtain my qualification. They were interested in offering me a job in the insurance trade to work as a claims assessor. (Basically I would go out to process the value and legitimacy of clients claims on damages to property). But, each time I wanted to do so, that spirit would cause me to stop. As in I punch in the number to contact them but then it would constrain my body to withhold from calling. However, since I did not discern what was happening, I left it. And one day when I did call them, I was told to my dismay "You should have contacted sooner!" My Chance gone! 2) The second one, was when I started my own business. I had been struggling for weeks to get a client. It was in the project management trade. Then one day, God came through for me with a prospective client wanted help to open up a hair salon. But when I answered, that demon made me say things that made me sound unprofessional like I cannot describe. You have no idea how I felt and they dropped the call. And after this, when I came back to my senses and the demon backed off, I was sitting there. Shocked beyond belief. I could not believe what had happened. Since I am a professional man and was acting completely out of character with her. It would later be revealed, in church when I went for deliverance. That the demon manifested before them and told them that he cost me 60K in profits. If this is a true statement or an exaggeration I do not know. But cost me money it surely did. That spirit was cast out immediately. Glory to God. 3) In interviews (prior to the deliverance) it would make me act cowardly or mess up the pre interview tests in a similar way as to the client. This then had caused me to lose a few opportunities.

But there are also other instances where this spirit would work behind the scenes with other demons to prevent my cv/resume from reach intended job vacancies. But, Glory to God. This spirit was removed, and I had a great career in retail management, operations management and company rep work. Prior to entering full time ministry.

The next one, will deal with getting rid of a lying spirit. We all have told lies. This is sadly one of the many sins that we have to deal with. But, there is also a spirit, that causes one to lie constantly! They manifest in the form what psychiatrists call pathological liars. These people, constantly lie about everything and anything. And I do not mean the casual lie to try and get out of trouble. As so many do. But this type of lying works to create every sort of lie. Even if it is harmful to the oppressed. In the context of them due to the lie denying something that could have been to their benefit had they spoken the truth. A good example, would one who goes to a soup kitchen and when it is their turn for benefit they deny that they have not been helped. And then they pass up what could have been theirs. And this continues unless God intervenes and makes sure they get something... otherwise they would leave no better than when they entered.

This is a very simplistic yet accurate description of what this ungodly spirit will create. The main goal of this spirit is to cause the individual to be damned by God. Or, at the very least be completely suffering in their lives. The author wishes to note, that Satan is the father of lies John 8:44. And every liar that does not repent will be thrown in the lake of fire. Rev 21:8. Hence, you can see why Satan works so hard to get people to lie.

But, this like any other spirit can be cast out and away by the name of Jesus. And must yield to the authority of the believer who has been forgiven by the blood of Jesus, and been restored to fellowship with the Father.

The following one I am about to mention, is a spirit of alzheimer. This spirit is generational, and creates in people this condition. How it works to facilitate such an permission is not clear cut. But, it works in the soul realm. And from there, it interacts with your memories. As the days go by, it gradually gains ground in your soul and directly starts to block more and more of your memories. First, your short term memory is affected and then your long term. I am busy treading now one something what many may call absurd. But, this spirit is assigned to create in people a lack of memory for the main purpose of having them forget scripture and hence not be able to counteract Satan in their lives. And, as a by product they prevent the individual from witnessing, as well as from being independent.

This spirit is generational, and by that I mean it can be transferred from parents to children at birth. What causes this evil to gain access in the first place I have no information on. But, its effects are clearly seen. Now, there may well be many medications that try to block or slow down the progression. But in truth it is the spirit that complies with the medication to ensure that the true cause (the demon itself) does not get dealt with.

Some may ask, if any of my parents or grandparents alzheimers. And the answer is yes. My Granddad on my mom's side suffered and died from it. In my generation decided to have a go at me. It confronted me at home. What happened was, I was under attack from the enemy by it causing me to doubt if I had done some menial thing around the home. But, when I went to check on it, I found my task was complete, but the doubt gave it opportunity to operate in my life. Which God ordained as a form of punishment, because He witnessed to me in my spirit that I did perform what I had to do. So, in effect I was basically saying "God, I don't trust or believe you." And God had to discipline me for not trusting Him.

Please, this is not the golden rule. But it happened to me. The spirit, tries also to gain access also by fear. If you are afraid of said spirit, you are giving it the opportunity to attack you. However, in my case it was allowed by God for disciplining me. It made me try and forget everything I knew. But, glory to God, in the name and power of Jesus that spirit was commanded to leave. And when it did I felt relief and my memories returning. This, is the only way to cure any person from Alzheimer. No other cure is found other than the name of Jesus. How many people suffered at the hands of this disease, only to have themselves put up in institutions as the world they knew gets slowly stripped from them. With family looking on. All that was needed was for one of them to confront that spirit in the name of Jesus and it would have left immediately.

Since dementia is at the root of it, I believe firmly that dementia can also be cured. But, I want to please stress the following:

- 1) This is not Christian science. Since it does acknowledge that natural causes for memory loss can occur due to damage done to the brain via injury (such as a blunt object hitting the head, or any other type of natural cause) and are not at all to be attributed to this spirit.
- 2) Just because some-one begins to forget a few things does not equate they have this spirit. Things such as age and medication side effects must first be cancelled out.
- 3) Also, not all conditions of memory loss are in God's will to be healed of. Some people have been destined by God to suffer under its affliction for whatever purpose He has designed for. However, must not be used as an excuse for faithless prayer!

This one, that I am about to discuss, deals more with a type of strategy that demonic entities use to avoid being cast out. But I will give an example of a specific demon. The familiar spirit. This demon can facilitate many types of actions. They can imitate gifts of the spirit, such as discernment or word knowledge.

I will mention a case of a word of knowledge. I know of a man who would go from church to church expose pastors publicly for secret sins. Harming the minister and causing disruption in the congregation. It was assumed by some, that he was simply unwise in his spiritual gifting. However, when he attended the congregation I fellow-shipped with at this time, he would not see reason. They sat for hours with him. Using all manner of reason. Scripture, objective reasoning, logic etc. That man would not budge.

I came to the conclusion that they were arguing with a demon. Since this is often a sign when debating or reasoning with such oppressed people. After many attempts they gave up. God will need to open his eyes that this is not an anointing, but a demon. Only once this has taken place can he be freed.

The next one, is the spirit anxiety and fear. Which all phobias are. This spirit causes the person to live in constant state of anxiety. And to be fearful of literally everything and anything that just could possibly go wrong. They then begin to fight vehemently against all manner of trust in God. And refuse to let go of any control since that is their security.

But what actually happens is that that fear and anxiety will cause them to harass their family and friends by always demanding that things happen their way. Thus, they begin to try and control everyone around them. This spirit, causes us to loose our faith and trust in God. Since that anxiety and fear makes us believe every lie of the enemy but not the written word of God.

But, What does God's word have to say about it? "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." 2 Tim 1:7 Also, God commands us to give all fear unto Him. As is written in 1 Peter 5:7. "Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. "So what is happening, is that you are basically telling God he is incapable or unwilling to help. Both of which is a lie. This spirit, never worked itself in me. But was very potent in my mom. To this day, she lives in anxiety and fear... with negative impacts on our relationship. But God says we can cast ALL our cares on Him, for he cares for us. Your pills to deter fear, anxiety etc. are unnecessary! Cast your cares upon God and you can have peace that will transcend understanding. And if a spirit sits behind these persistent fears and unfounded senses of anxiety, command it to disappear from you. You have the right to the liberty that Christ purchased for you at the cross.

Chapter 5 : Fighting the intimate fight

Section 1

In the event of confronting a demon we may often have to face those who are closest to us in the process. Those who have the easiest access to us. That husband, wife, sister, brother and or children or any other relative. God, in His wisdom will allow our enemy to make use of his children or servants in this manner or rather, category, against us to enable us to constantly set our sole reliance for security in Him. That very close friend, whom you are often open for criticism or any form of comment... whose presence brings your guard down. That very soul will be the one God will allow the enemy to use against you. Even if they are born again.

This is the first and foremost byproduct from the commandment of Christ: "If any man, loves his father, or mother or brother or sister or sons or daughters more than Me, they are not worthy of the kingdom of heaven." Namely, that we will heed His word and instruction in spite of their comment or opposition.

That very close sister or brother, whom you would gladly move heaven and earth for to help them in even a simple task may be used at some point against you. Even if they are devout believers of good report in some fashion. The apostles, and prophets in the time after Christ's ascension were not immune to this either. For Peter, in his weakness gave in to the Jews who converted and withdrew himself from the fellowship of gentile believers – because they were not Jews from birth – and became in a sense a stumbling block and hindrance for the younger believer in how to conduct themselves towards these brethren by his example.

But, Paul rebuked and corrected Peter for his actions. Peter heeded those who were closest to him in Paul's absence and fell to their influence and became the same weapon the enemy used against him. (Peter did not have a devil, but due to the deception and fear he fell victim to it and was continuing the very weapon forged against him towards others). With not only Jews seeing his conduct, but gentiles being trapped and confused by his conduct when compared to the teachings of himself and other apostles.

This, is a extensive path to take to simply show how those we love in the Lord can be used against us unwittingly by the enemy. Then those who we deem as lost and as reprobate (both justly and unjustly) can be used even so much more since there are strongholds and oppressions in that persons life which when called upon WILL come with force against any act of righteousness when needed. If there is one thing Satan can be accurately quoted as saying without using ad verbatim scripture... it is this. Whenever man says: "I will arise and draw near to God." Satan says: "I will arise, and oppose."

And when he has decided to do thus, he will be using whatever is at his disposal against you. Friends, family, acquaintances, colleagues, enemies, circumstances or the like. And with this in mind, be reminded of what was taught earlier. We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities and powers and rulers of this dark age and spiritual wickedness in high places. That person who is not just a thorn in your flesh, but a Goliath or a Pharaoh to you is nothing more than a tool of the enemy (in that instance). It is not they who are simply fighting against you (though in some cases this may be), but their father the devil or a particular stronghold they are victim to and unwittingly have become enslaved to and are being a conduit for its purposes against you.

In these difficult circumstances, we can but do one thing to ensure we overcome our enemy with minimum trauma/difficulty/stress or fear. Be still, and know our Lord is God. Psalm 46:10. God will fight for you and if you are to give an answer and will be in a position where you must answer, God by His Holy Spirit will lead you to say what ought to be said. Luke 12:12 No matter their response, God will have you overcome them and the enemy.

When the enemy brings forth the most inner wounds to the surface to bring hurt and humiliation to you through others, we are often so incapable of confronting them in Christ and His nature that we merely capitulate. We are overwhelmed with emotions of fear, anxiety and pain. And then Satan blocks the mind of the abuser/attacker from understanding or caring about what they are doing to you and prevents you from convincing that person of the error of their ways.

And what's more, he will have them press on you in the same way until you have been exhausted or so pressured that you literally have a mental or emotional break-down if possible. And were it not for the grace of God you would be driven to suicide or at best to a mental institution (by this, I am not making a old or light hearted bit of humor. Constant emotional exhaustion or trauma can and will result and lead to a complete breakdown if sufficiently exposed to). But, God can preserve you through this and even if He by His wisdom allows you to crack WILL restore you.

These inner wounds can be of a multitude of types. They may be some personal desire that was mocked and ridiculed by peers and family. There may be some experience you had which was emotionally taxing or injurious to you, but was seen as a point of jest for those who caused it or even worse those who were supposed to bring comfort. It may even be some good nature or characteristic God placed within you. Something pure, and good in His sight that Lucifer by his agents try to either remove or suppress by your pains that it becomes shackled and we in the world who God wanted to bless with that part of you will never get to enjoy it.

Yet, that pure thing God will preserve. And He will keep safe. And those who opposed that in you were either ignorant of what they were doing to you or at the very least blind as to what was happening. These people, were not aware of the goodness you were supposed to bring forth or they would have withheld themselves or repented of their deeds. And should they have known, they would in truth be either un-informed of what they truly were busy with, or were so corrupted by Satan that they despised the very goodness of God represented in you. (But the latter, is by far the exception to the rule and in very few numbers).

When we as believers suffer, it is not without purpose. Far be it from God to let His children undergo any form of evil without some greater or noble cause. That cause may be to show us how much more we are still to conform to Jesus' image. Or, it may be we have been given the honor of suffering for His namesake. Which is a great honor to have! To be counted worthy to suffer for His name is perhaps a very sad and wrenching experience.....yet one which carries an eternal reward. But, be not high-minded over this, it is He who made you worthy and none of it is due to or by you.

In the event, of suffering prior to conversion yet coming to the faith in any case we may face the honest and fair question... "Why did I suffer so badly if I was not even in His kingdom?" There are two possibilities if not three. First: Satan, who lives in the spirit realm saw something that God placed on you prior to or on the day of birth. And all that you were exposed to was his doomed to fail attempts to prevent your conversion and consequential service to Christ and His kingdom. For, he did not want the anointing on you to become active or used against him in the lives of others. Second: It was part of God's pre-destined purpose to have you undergo those things for the sake of the calling you have on your life and for those you are destined to impact for His kingdom. Even if it is for the sake of just one lost lamb. And because you are called by His purpose and love Him, God will make all things work together for your good. That is His promise (Rom 8:28). Third: You were merely a victim of the wickedness of a fallen world. A suffering soul due to the vileness that dwells in all unregenerate men. And manifests to greater or lesser degree in some. This is not in any sense true of the deceased unbeliever or reprobate. Since of these people it is not said that God will turn all things together for their good. At least not as a guaranteed promise.

You may now be concerned as to why God would allow evil to happen to those to whom it will not be of any benefit to later on. And this is also in many respects a fair question. But, know this. God is by no means obligated to make evils done by men turned around for the good of those who suffered by it. He is not accountable to our ideas of fairness and justice. Yet, in His justice not a single committer of wickedness will escape eternal punishment lest they repent and believe the gospel. Those sins committed will either have been paid for by Christ in His atoning work or will be brought upon the transgressor with suffering for all eternity. Bringing some comfort to a number of souls. Though their only consolation will be: "The devil who did this to me is burning here as well. And the man or woman who he worked through to harm me so badly is here." But, by the grace of God many a soul once used in a vile manner by Satan will by God's grace be made to repent and believe and escape the wrath of God rightly meant for them. And those unfortunate souls who were both victims of once evil men/women but were not of the divine elect themselves will only be able to say: "At least Satan is burning here with me... he who used so and so to harm me is rightly suffering with me. Just as I am justly suffering for my own sins against God."

What I have stated here, is the brutal truth. Very evangelically incorrect if you want to lead others to Christ by mans inventions or ideas. But true none the less. If you struggle to accept these truths, may God give you wisdom and discernment to see that this witness is true. And that it testifies of nothing more than what we already have heard of though Jesus, and the apostles.

In closing of this section of the book, it is my sincere desire that Christ will show you the truth of what is written and that the Holy Spirit will guide you into all truth as promised by Christ in John 16:13. And that with the knowledge gained you can now not only begin to avoid the weapons and snares of the enemy but also start arresting the ones you who have stepped into and become in bondage to.

With the next Chapter, I give the reader a clear explanation of every weapon we as the righteous children of God the Father through Christ Jesus by faith have against our enemy and his flaming arrows.

Chapter 6: The types of oppression

We have a multitude of oppression that can afflict the believer. There are many that are in use by the enemy today, but they are all under the name of Jesus and must be submitting to that name. They are incapable of resisting the name above all names and the list I will mention will cover three different types.

The first and foremost type are common demons. These demons are common in their weapon, but not in rank. Then you will have uncommon weapons with certain levels of rank that are not available to that type of demon since their weapons do not allow lower class demons of using them. Then there are destructive weapons (which all demonic weapons are) that are geared towards the specific assault of believers, the individual and the church. They are targeted not towards the general population, but to specific aspects of man and God's will in man and church.

The first types are mentioned as follows:

Spirit of poverty, Spirit of lack and the Spirit of scarcity (Note some demons operate in all three simultaneously). These demons will work to financially destroy you. Their goal is to so impoverish you financially that you become a burden on family/friends and eventually will end up homeless.

Spirit of depression, this spirit causes depression in a man. They create the emotion of depression and can and will encourage the associated issues such as substance abuse and suicide. Which in turn basically allows two demons of the associated names to begin to harass and torment the victim.

Spirit of anxiety and of fear, will also cause the above mentioned issues in some cases other cases cause such fear that the individual is incapable of functioning. These fears and anxieties can often be attributed to a series of phobias which in truth are all based in a spirit of fear. For faith cannot flow where fear dominates, and fear is the absence of the love of God for it cast out all fear. Thus, that spirit needs to be confronted in truth from God with sometimes just being re-assured of God's love. In other cases, that demon must be chased off in Jesus name for it is not of God.

Spirit of lust and pornography will work draw a person into sexual depravity. And by engaging with these, other more dangerous spirits will take root. Such as a spirit of fornication, spirit of perversion, sodomy, lesbianism etc. Which in turn open up deeper roots of oppression.

Please note, some demons may occupy a person due to severe trauma, and if of a sexual nature there is no sin on the part of the oppressed – except what they have committed after the trauma with even under the affliction of sexual demons. They will need to repent of any of these sins mentioned but the initial trauma they suffered that these demons gained access through bears no sin upon them.

Trauma of a sexual nature, such as rape, sexual rituals etc will open up severe rooted demons which will encourage sexual sin as a consequence. But will not be held against them for they were a victim.

Familiar spirits. These can take a multitude of forms. Familiar spirits are for example ghosts, spirit guides, sooth sayers anything that the person on a frequent basis converses with for any particular reason.

It is imperative to know that just because communication took place with a demon it does not however mean that that demons is a familiar spirit. It simply implies that they are conversing with said demons. Such as a demon of witch-craft.

Some demons, on a lighter scale will cause odd or strange oppression which are not named of superficially in scripture. Which in turn, then causes suffering for them when they seek help. A simple example: A demon might cause a sensation on your flesh of being touched with scales – to torment you – and when this pleaded for with pastors, they then write one off as being silly. That then creates fear and causes them to withdraw from pastoral aid when more serious issues arise. (Please note, it is impossible for me to mention every type of oddity the enemy might use.)

Then, a spirit blindness, deafness and dumbness. These spirits were confronted by Christ, and they are operational today. Only Jesus can remove them. Prayer is the best weapon against these, however this does not mean every single issue of these are caused by demons. There is the case for standard medical ailments. God also makes people blind, deaf and dumb at birth.

Spirit of affliction. These demons are generally causes of many ailments where there are no medical explanations for. They will cause any symptom of any disease, even though all medical testing would be conclusive that the specific ailment imitated is indeed not present. These spirits will have the victim suffer for suffering sake and cause any existing ailments to worsen excessively.

Next, the second class of weapons. Here we have weapons that exclusively are working and functioning within the soul realm. Previous weapons may operate in the flesh or soul realm of your being but there are exclusively soul realm and I would almost say core of your being. Beyond the realm of your soul. Humans are a trinity in this sense. For we are made in the image of God.

Here, I am going to mention specific demons.

The spirit of witch-craft operates on a multitude of levels of strength. The strength of these will depend upon how deep in the occult a person as as well as how skilled they were in its use. These witch-craft activities include animal sacrifice, casting spells and curses on people (note spells are demonic instructions in a satanic language), also flaming balls – where like in the movies they cast a ball of fire, as well as certain hand gestures. Every one of these are used in witch-craft. The more they are used, the stronger the demon. Please note there are two grades of witch-craft power. The first half is only available to heterosexuals. (AKA straight people). Then there is a level of power only available to sodomites. There is a section of satanic ability only available to those who are homosexual. Because that level of corruption is needed for the power to flow.

Other abilities are to use “soul communication”. This is when your soul summons/commands a demon to perform x desired task. The demons then will leave and go perform said task. Some, might seem innocent, others plainly evil. However they are both sin before God.

I know of a man, who had wanted to harm a former friend of his. He then, while performing normal duties at home was informed by the demonic agency that they were going to that man's home and make a cup of coffee and pour it on his pc while he was not there. The individual did not really believe their witness. But a few days later was informed by said victim's girlfriend that his laptop was written off. And according to the Technicians at a local repair store, it was due to a cup of coffee being poured on it. This, was not done with him present. Neither he nor his household could figure out how it happened.

Then, on another occasion, the same man – who the demons performed his will for – the demons played his computer game all the while he was busy in his kitchen. And when he got back, he found a completely different setup on the game he was playing than when he left it.

These were done via spirits of witch-craft, that are commonly obtained via imitation of witch-craft. By reproducing or mimicking witch-craft seen in games or on tv. Also by request, they may enter. (As may any other demon. They will never ignore a request for this. Though God may by His divine mercy prevent them none-the less).

Apart from this, ou also have soul power, where your soul overpowers a person using witch-craft to override their thinking. This may have varying effects depending on the persons skills and the victims spiritual state. But, the former two stories were not caused in this manner. (Born again believers are harder to afflict).

Then you have the imitation/mimicking Holy Spirit. As the name implies, he imitates and mimics the Holy Spirit to deceive and mislead you and give deceiving visions, dreams etc. He will also give false interpretation of scripture and give false prophecies – though there are separate spirits in that category as well. (But he tries to imitate the Holy Spirit in its function an operation. He will also at his desire to maintain the fraud, give accurate information about situations so as to maintain the illusion of it being God and the Spirit of God.)

He will so closely mimic the Holy Spirit in operation that he will cause anything you use to normally discern if it is God or of Him as his calling card. In other words, the tests you may use to verify if it is who it says it is may be intellectually used against you. Also, when it introduces itself (through whatever means) you need to pray to God to confirm if it is what it says it is until you get your answer. But if you have seen this thing exposed, you will need prayer and perhaps fasting to have God remove that demon. (Note, God is merciful and depending on how strong that spirit was in operation you may not need a heavy deliverance experience to be freed from it.)

An example will be the Khundalini Spirit. This spirit, imitates and mimics the gift of tongues. This spirit, will cause the person to pray what supposed to be a heavenly language as the charismatics call it. But, in truth it is a demon that causes that false appearance of tongues. But please note, there is still a genuine gift of tongues which can manifest upon the infilling of the Holy Spirit. But, there is careful consideration to be taken since both the khundalini spirit and the Holy Spirit can be present in some-one at the same time. Thus, it is imperative to have an interpreter or discerning member of the body to determine whether person is acting under the Holy Spirits unction or that demonic impostor.

But that spirit does not end there. He also will cause a person to obey him in the same sense as one would like to obey the leading of the Holy Spirit. Only that his leading is always to a lie.

Though the lie might not be immediately realized or seen. And in most cases even plausible.

And impostor Jesus. We know that demons like to imitate God, but also they like to imitate – that duplicate – a Christ after their own liking. This Jesus will actually help encourage certain biblical positions, but be a detriment to the believer rather than an aid. Since they will not be lead to genuine Christ like-ness... only some of the morality. And as a final nail in the coffin, they will be trusting in a Jesus that was invented by demons and not the Jesus of History. The Son of God.

This fake Jesus comes in varying forms. The Mormon Jesus, the Yehowah Witnesses Jesus, Armstrong Church of God, Church of Jesus Christ of latter day saints for an example. And the demon that imitates him will lead the victim to perform many biblical things. But all the while a mere religious man or woman. Never truly tasting being born again. The words of Christ: “Depart from me, for I never knew you!” Comes to mind. Matt 7:21-23

The next one is a God the Father impostor. This is a horrendous demon that will cause confusion in your soul. He will mimic the voice of God in your life. Even though as a born again believer you will know it is not truly Him, the deception will be of such a magnitude that you cannot easily overcome it – unless you have maturity in spirit. (Though, you in your most inward soul know it is not the voice of the Shephard, you may be so emotionally involved etc that you cannot refuse) Plus, this demon will use scripture after scripture to deceive you. To make legitimate whatever he tells you. However, he will be unable to overcome the Holy Spirit when the scripture are interpreted by the true power of God. He will be exposed and can be caused to leave. (Hint, this spirit will encourage different routes of access and worship of God which are not biblical). Remember, God the Father cannot receive worship that is not directed through God the Son (being born again) nor to God the Son. For whatever we do to Christ, we do to Him. If you love Jesus you love Him. If you worship Jesus, you worship Him.

Then, there is the third category. Where your ultimate core identity of what God the Father gave Christ (for we are given to Christ of God, see John 6:37) will be under siege. Here only God the Father can intervene by rank. For it was His creation that He gave to Christ. The rest are additions to that gift. These demons will only be removed by the “finger of God” so to speak. By direct action of the Father. Because they are causing oppression in the inner most core of your being.

Spirit of false identity. Here, demons will impose any identity that you may or may not like. They will suppress the true person God called you to be. That person will still be there, for God alone can remove it and He has no desire nor willingness or inkling nor history of doing so. (This also how split personalities work. There is the original person God made, and several demons for each personality to come forth)

God will allow such a oppression, but He has no desire to see his creature suppressed in this area. God wants you to live out the identity He gave you. That identity is pure and cannot be sin. Meaning, should your perceived identity cause you to sin against God, be assured that aspect is not your identity but a demonic entity. That entity is suppressing the true you. This may arise by wanting to imitate that which is not of God. To imitate a fictional character or even a historical character irrespective of their Godliness is to open up doors in this area.

This is why I oppose and renounce the movie industry. For many actors have confessed that those personas are still there. In short, the demons that were involved in portraying said character are still there.

These demons will at the will of both the host and their own, function and flow through a person and cause harm. (Unless God prohibits them).

Then, there is one where a demon will cause your thoughts to be heard by other demons. They can operate on any of the levels of oppression. But, can be found in this sphere when they have been in operation or been placed there by witch-craft for many years. That demon will at one point, torment the victim by relaying in their mind everything they heard the person think. Before they even begin to “speak” it in their mind. This can cause hindrances to your normal functioning.

On a final thought, if God reveals any demon in this sphere, then remember that only the Father can remove them from there. Not Jesus. You ask God the Father in the name of God the Son to remove them and He will. The areas of deliverance Jesus is allowed to function in. You ask Him in His name or command in His name when applicable.

Chapter 7: Complications

When you are receiving deliverance these previously mentioned aspects of such a deep nature, God will often times have to intervene and prevent the enemy from causing perversions in the areas that have just been cleansed.

For example, in you soul you may been delivered from a spirit of homosexuality. When that spirit leaves others may try and corrupt the freshly cleaned ground by putting their bondage in its place or by trying to facilitate a mimicking of the former bondage. God will then have to intervene to correct and restore the purity of that area. He does not want any corruption of your being.

But rest assured, God will give mercy knowing what you are capable of facing with Him. There are times when you will not need to even consider the possibility of there being complications in this area, simply because God has decided to shelter you against such an attack. But, if you have to face the enemy, then God will preserve you to a point where He wants you to be disciplined in ignoring the enemy and resisting if need be.

Chapter 8: The great weapons of our warfare

Every believer has many a weapon to use against our enemy. And best of all, they are all based in Him and not in ourselves, thus they are never weak nor tired or worn out. Our weapons are spiritual, and mighty in God for the tearing down of strongholds. (2 Cor 10:4). These strongholds are places where sin might reign in your soul, or even in principalities and powers and dominions in areas where you live.

Yet, no matter how great or strong the enemies hold, no matter how bitter or evil it may be we have the final victory. For God fights for us and He is incapable of loosing. Whatever the Lord wills, He does. (Psalm 135:6) Whatever He says happens. (Ezekiel 12:25).

"For I am the Lord: I will speak, and the word that I shall speak shall come to pass;" Ezekiel 12:25

Thus, if He has declared you to trample on Satan and all the power of the wicked one, so you shall do. The battle might last for a season but victory will in the end come. For God already overcame Satan, and we must simply by prayer and supplication to God call that victory forth in our circumstances. We do not declare and command victory, for God alone has that power. But by prayer, and petitioning God we see how He brings about that desired victory against our foe. For as it is written, the battle is the Lord's! (2 Chron 20:15) And call upon Him in the day of trouble and He shall deliver you. (Psalm 50:15)

"Thus saith the Lord unto you, Be not afraid nor dismayed by reason of this great multitude; for the battle is not yours, but God's." 2 Chron 20:15

This is where I begin with the most basic and yet most powerful weapon of our warfare. Prayer. When we pray, we are coming into agreement with God and are basically submitting to His will in this regard.

When we pray, with faith believing that God hears us and will answer us in prayer we will then receive. (Mark 11:24) If you pray not believing God will not answer... don't waste your time. Because without faith you are not going to receive a single thing. No deliverance, no blessing no promise. For by faith is the promise received. Even though God may desire for you to enjoy it. Without faith you will not taste a single drop of His promises towards you in this way. (James 1:6,7)

"But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord." James 1:6,7

But, God who is rich in mercy and suffers with us in tribulation not leaving us as orphans in this world will when we are weak come to our aid. He will either send some-one to aid or by His sovereign hand divinely intervene and bring about deliverance from the oppression that may bind or persecute you at the moment. Be not afraid, though you may have to fight the fight of faith and stand your ground on the word for a moment in battle, you WILL NOT LOOSE! There is no bondage that prayer to God almighty cannot brake. There is no sin, that prayer in truth cannot plead forgiveness for for the elect (with the exception of blaspheming the Holy Spirit. Which the elect cannot do!). There is no evil that your prayers to God cannot confront in His power. Every last thing that could be forged against you WILL NOT PROSPER! This is a promise to His people. Every soul born again in Christ has this covenant promise with God. (Isaiah 54:17)

As to the subject of prayer, let your prayers be seasoned with salt of His word. If you pray His word which is His will, your prayers will have great impact. (For example, pray the Psalms! They are appropriate to every circumstance.) Let your prayers assault the kingdom of God. Do not let God's ears have a moments rest till you have your answer. Wrestle with God in prayer, until He gives you an answer. Wrestle with Him in prayer until He has given your petition His attention. Like Jacob wrestled with the angel until he was blessed. So wrestle with God in prayer until He has given you the answer to it. (Gen 32:22-31)

"And he said, Let me go, for the day breaketh. And he said, I will not let thee go, except thou

Yet, we need not always plead with God in this way. God is always present to aid us in our hour of need. He longs to see us victorious over the enemy. God will, at times when He deems it fit cause us to plead and cry before His throne for deliverance from that devil. But these are the other weapons that Satan also fears. For when they are combined with faith and anointing, he is powerless to resist. (There will be a section that deals with a unique type of oppression with a unique approach applicable only to that).

1. Command in the name of Jesus that it should depart. Every believer has this right. You have the right to say: “In the name of Jesus, devil go!” And it must leave. It has no right against the name that is above all names. If you have repented of the sin it is tied with, the claim and accusations it has before God against you are void. It must depart. This is only reserved for demons are located in your flesh. (If are occupying a space in your soul, or spirit man then God the Father or Son must do all the work. Though, you call on them to do it)
2. Plead the blood of Jesus. The blood of Jesus is against your enemy. It is against sin and the devil. It is God's mighty testimony over you, that you are bought with a price and are legally His. Demons cannot resist the blood. They flee when it is pleaded against them. This is also an easy way to break light witch-craft curses.
3. Wait upon the Lord. Sometimes, God wants you to simply sit still, and in your heart wait upon God, focused on Him and He will cause that devil to go. You may have to wait a bit longer than other times, but God will deliver you! But do not give in to complacency or slackness. Be on guard against satan... he is looking for the opportunity to destroy you.
4. Play praise and worship music. The anointing on that will irritate any demon, and cause many to flee without having to directly speak against them. Why? Because, the Lord inhabits the praises of His people, and where the spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom. This will remove demons of a lower level as well as irritate those who are of stronger capacity.
5. Communion, many a devil flees at the usage (rightly done) of this holy sacrament. You are eating of His body and drinking His blood. Whenever you take communion, some of God's glory manifests in that room and demons tremble at the sight of Him. How many a devil, has not fled when God appeared in glory to His saints? His holiness sending them to flee in seven directions! (But do not use communion as a easy way out of sinful indulgence! That demon came often-times through the sin you committed).
6. Prayer in agreement, you can ask a fellow believer to stand in agreement with you to force that unclean spirit to leave. If your faith is weak, if you find you struggle to overcome, ask a strong believer to pray with you for as it is written: “If two or more on the earth are in agreement on any thing, it shall be done unto them.”
7. Anointing oil, sometimes, we need to place anointing oil on ourselves, because this facilitates a tangible touch for your faith to connect with God's spirit. That oil (if consecrated) is Holy. And God's spirit is with it. If you anoint, His Holy Spirit will touch you and aid you in deliverance. But have reverence for what you are applying, for the Holy Spirit is Holy as his name implies.

8. Fasting. God will often times ask you to fast for a few days in order achieve deliverance. But this must preferably be accompanied with prayer. But, combine this with wisdom, for not everyone can jump into a three or four day fast.
9. Reading/praying of God delivering you. This will cause God to fight for you and have His angelic host of heaven when need be intervene for you. Or cause you to act you ought to be delivered. (For God will often give guidance as an answer to prayer). If you expect God to act when praying or reading His word, something will happen. But it will always accompany the trust in God's mercy to act.
10. Baptism. Depending on your spiritual state, and how badly you have fallen you may request being re-baptized to reclaim your sanctification. At the same time, demons may be removed without any hassle on your part. (But this is not to be applied as a fix for each occasion). Lastly, have your pastor or leader show you in prayer what you ought to pray to prevent falling back. Since if you do fall back, you will be seven times worse of than had you not been re-baptized.
11. Address that demon, to leave to wherever God commands it to go. Sometimes God will send a demon in an animal – see legion being cast out – or away into another country even. This must be not ourselves but of God.

Now you may wonder, why on earth so many types!? And the right answer is, because God does not want you to take the victory as something cheap. Nor turn it into a formula. That it becomes a routine. And that by His Holy Spirit you will always be lead to act appropriately. If it becomes routine, God will then not move. Because a routine, and a formula does not need faith. And by faith, we know we are delivered. For, faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. And by faith, the promises of God are received. Not of works.

But take heart, these weapons are strong! And God will lead you and teach you in how to use them. For God will teach you how to pray in battle.

But it does not end there! There are varying ways of deliverance which often occurs unplanned. One of these methods is that when you pray for one another, you reap what you sow! Thus, if you either:

- a) Plead the blood of Jesus over a family member or friend to be delivered of a vile spirit, and pray for them in secret (Not just if they are in a crisis), you will reap that blessing as well!
- b) If you pray for God to deliver your family and friends from any vile spirit that they may not be aware of, you will reap the same! (If there be anything to be delivered of).

But this must also be said, if you plead this without genuine care or sincerity, but are basically trying to “manipulate the system” so to speak for your own advantage, do not expect a reward. For it is not genuine. (Though God might at some instances in spite of this out of mercy allow you to still reap what you sowed in prayer, it should never be assumed as acceptable.)

Realms of occupation.

Demons can occupy specific realms in your being. There are three spheres of occupation. Look at the temple of Solomon or Herod. There was an outer court, an inner court and a holy of holies. Just like the temple we are a temple of God in three parts.

The first, is the flesh. This is the outer court. This is where all of demons take hold, so that they might influence us to deeper sin. For example, a spirit of lust enters here, and if possible drags the person to engage in sexual sin beyond the mere imagination and begin to partake in fornication. Thus, the soul becomes oppressed as well.

One of the ways oppressions can come into the soul realm is via sexual contact with demons. This is the greatest sin you can commit apart from blaspheming Christ and the trinity including the Holy Spirit. But this is pardonable. The reason it is so evil is because every other sin takes place outside the body. But this inside the body. (1 Cor 6:18) And when we commit sexual sin with another human, there is a soul tie that binds the two spiritually. Next, we see in scripture that this is how a marriage is sealed as evidence of this. This the seal and binding glue if you will for marriage.

But, if a demon has sexual relations with you – and bear in mind it must be willing on your part – a similar spiritual tie comes into effect. But it is not as deep, because it is with a demon and not a human.

This must be cut with the blood of Christ and Christ alone ends that tie. He literally rips that tie away. To add, when we have a soul tie another human that is not of God it does get torn off but simply extracted due to the comparability of human and human in this sense. If it is of a homosexual nature.

But this does not excuse the fact that homosexuality is an abomination.

Another area to have demonic oppression in your soul is via drug use. Such as Heroin, Buprenorphine or weed. What the demons do in that area depends on the drug. But Weed for example will stagnate a person in their identity for expressing itself in some form. Also, all drugs in any capacity – once again we are not speaking of medication but unholy substances that are for the perversion of the body and inducing of spiritual experiences – will without any distinction halt a person's emotional and mental maturity. It blocks emotional development. And perverts what was there.

Only Christ or the Father can remove a demon in your soul sphere. This is because you cannot heal yourself so to speak. But the Chief physician must come with the scalpel of His authority and remove that which has been completely pardoned before God upon repentance.

But, there is one area of your being where only the Father can deliver you. That is, the area of your spirit man. That is where the Spirit of God dwells in you upon being born again. The Holy of Holies. Where the inner court stems from. Where your core name and person is found. That is a realm that only the Father and NOT THE SON can operate in deliverance. This simply because that is what God gave to Christ for when you came to redemption. When you got born again, that was what Christ was given. And hence He has no right to do anything in it. Since God the Father made and gave it.

Now, you can allow occupation or oppression to enter this realm if you allow the enemy to override your identity because of your insecurities or own carnal desires. The you must pray and the Lord your God will deliver you.

This is the deepest that an oppression can go. This is the most dangerous it can be. And the most uncommon type.

It is most dangerous since only one of two results can come from it. At the least your character, values and expression of yourself will be perverted. At the worst, if your identity is over oppressed, you will die.

Not your identity, that is eternal. But your flesh, for it is tailor made to your soul. You will thus be a dead man/woman if you allow the demons to persist and expand their oppression. You will be dead person the next morning, but your soul if you are saved will be with the Lord. For to be absent from the body for the saint is to be present with the Lord.

The other area of corruption or oppression is often times on the body but not in the body. These bondages are external. But influential. A simply analogy. Add outside the temple the city. This can be seen as the realm that you the temple lives through. Though the temple may be clean in every way, the city it dwells in is most often not. But, there you have all the authority that Christ gave to operate and cut off, cleanse and remove any bondages.

This is everything you need to know for deliverance. There is nothing more to learn. Pray that God gives you wisdom and discernment and peace that He lead you how to about your purification.
